

Karastan Man Wins Trip To World's Fair

GERALD WATKINS: Wrote prize-winning essay in contest at University.

Gerald Watkins, of the Karastan Designing Department, has recently returned from an expense-paid trip to the World's Fair in Seattle, Wash. He won the trip in an essay contest at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill.

Gerald, while a junior at the University last spring, entered the essay contest sponsored by the English and Political Science Departments. At the time he wrote the essay he did not know that the trip was being offered. This summer he was notified that he had won the trip.

His essay was entitled "Federal Aid To Highways in 1956" and presented a study of pressure groups and their effect on legislation.

Gerald is a native of Reidsville and graduated from Reidsville High School where he was president of the student body, master counselor of the Order of DeMolay and a leader in other student activities.

He entered the University in the fall of 1959. He has completed his first three years and plans to complete his final studies by correspondence and continue to work at Karastan.

When he was employed at the Karastan Service Center last July he intended

Housekeeping Award

The Karastan Weave Room's award for the best housekeeping during the month of September was won by the weavers on Loom 59, Edgar Clark, James Roberts and Hobert Hundley.

To stimulate cleanliness and orderliness in the weave room, the mill awards a certificate each month on the loom which has the highest total points in four housekeeping inspections made by the supervisors.

The certificate remains on the loom during the succeeding month, calling attention to the outstanding housekeeping job done by the weavers.

to work only during the summer. He decided, however, that it would be more profitable to him to continue working and to study at night. He has been working in the Karastan Designing Department since September 4 as a designer trainee.

Kathleen Murphy, Of Sales Office, Is Wed

Miss Kathleen Therese Murphy, daughter of Mrs. Joseph Edward Murphy of Brooklyn, N. Y. and the late Mr. Murphy, was married September 15 to John Peter Toolan, son of Mrs. John Joseph Toolan, of the Bronx, and the late Mr. Toolan.

The marriage was in the Roman Catholic Church of St. Francis Xavier in Brooklyn, New York. The Rev. Charles W. Gordon performed the ceremony and celebrated the nuptial mass.

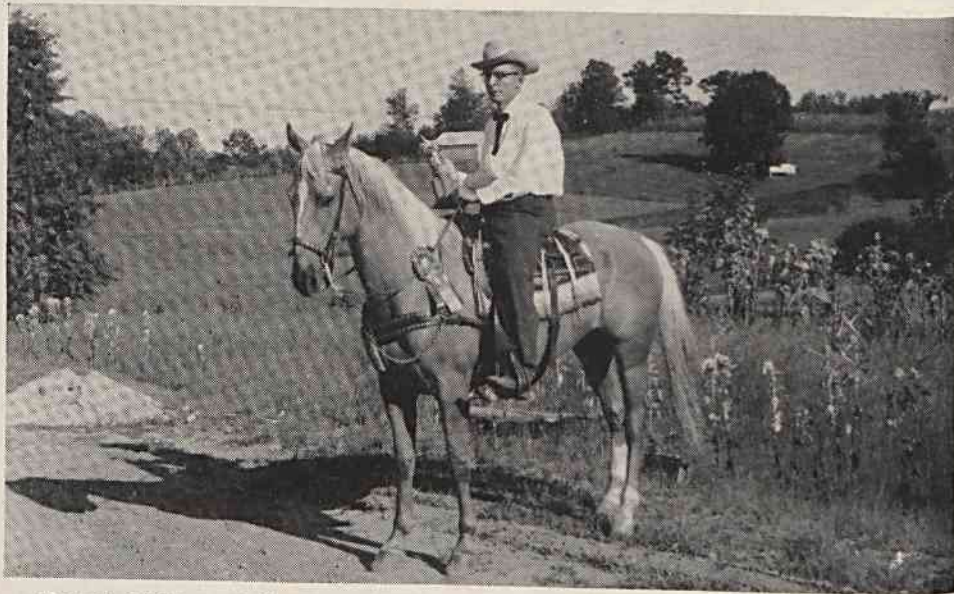

The bride is employed in the Distributor Sales Department of our Fieldcrest Sales Offices in New York. After a wedding trip to Bermuda the couple is living in Manhattan.

Towel Mill Man Loves His Horse

Dennis Walker, of the Towel Mill Spinning Department, is shown with his palomino, "Gold Dust", which won ribbons in several horse shows this summer.

Dennis Walker, of the Towel Mill Spinning Department, second shift, is known as a man who loves horses—particularly one horse.

He is one of several horse owners at the Towel Mill who are active in the Patrick-Henry Saddle Club and owns a golden yellow palomino called "Gold Dust."

Dennis is justifiably proud of the California-raised cowpony which has won 15 ribbons in various horse shows this summer including a blue ribbon and a gold cup for the running cloverleaf barrel race. "Gold Dust" also has been entered in horse races at Pine Park, Danville, Va. where he won first place on two occasions.

Knowing Dennis' affection for "Gold Dust", friends at the Towel Mill frequently pretend to try to buy the palomino from him. Dennis always has the same answer: "'Gold Dust' is not for sale at any price."
