

This picture was made during one of the rush periods when the Bloodmobile was stationed at the Leaksville Moose Hall Thursday, August 5. Note that plenty of nurses are available to take donors' temperatures, check pulses, blood pressures and hemoglobins.

Ruby Stewart gave in place of who had donated too recently. "It is an honor to donate blood," she said.

Additional gallon donors who became eligible after the June 23 visit were Ed L. Martin of the Finishing Mill and Mrs. Fred W. Klein.

Of the 189 donors, 42 persons gave blood for the first time and 75 gave blood in the name of some person who had received blood under the Tri-City Blood Program.

John G. Cunningham, co-chairman of the Tri-City Blood Program, expressed appreciation to all of those who gave blood or offered to give blood and to the many volunteer workers who assisted.

He also thanked the several community organizations and individuals who helped to make the Bloodmobile visit a big success.

Giles Hunnings and Jones Norman, recruitment chairmen at the Bedspread and Karastan Mills, respectively, thanked the donors from those mills for their cooperation and commended them for their unselfish support of a vitally-needed community service.

Leaksville-Spray Moose Lodge No. 864 made its hall available for the Bloodmobile and members of the lodge assisted with recruiting donors and arrangements for the visit. The Leak-ville-Spray Junior Woman's Club conducted a telephone campaign to recruit donors and remind them of their appointments.

Raymond R. Martin was recruitment chairman for Leaksville, outside the Bedspread and Karastan Mills, and was assisted by Fire Chief Glenn Simpson. Members of the Leaksville-Spray Men's Club also assisted with the recruitment of donors.

Members of the Virginia-Carolina Citizens Band Radio Club again set up their equipment and furnished radio-dispatched cars to provide rides for donors who needed transportation.
