

Fieldcrest Marketing Division retirees, Velma Minter and C. E. Moulton, are presented first pension checks by Frank W. Green (far right). At far left is Hugh A. Brown.

Velma Minter opens gifts from the employees and her coworkers. From left to right, Beverly Cowan, Ethel Tartas, Miss Minter, C. E. Moulton, Betty McEnery and Rosemary Spearman.

N. Y. Employees Honored At Retirement

C. E. Moulton And Velma Minter Retire In Marketing Division

Two well-known employees of the Fieldcrest Marketing Division in New York have retired, each having 40-plus years of continuous service with the company.

They are C. E. (Ed) Moulton, division vice president—sheet merchandising, and Velma Minter, secretary to Hugh A. Brown, vice president—merchandising.

Mr. Moulton was feted by co-workers at a dinner and Miss Minter at a luncheon. Then, on their last day of work, the two retirees were honored at an informal ceremony at the Fieldcrest sales offices.

Frank W. Green, president of the Fieldcrest Marketing Division, presented them with their first monthly pension checks. He expressed the company's appreciation for their long service and contribution to the company's success and extended congratulations to them.

Co-Workers Attend Ceremony

Others attending the ceremony included: Hugh A. Brown, vice president—merchandising; E. Stanley Klein, Jr., vice president—specialty sales; Lewis Lee, assistant to Mr. Brown; John Biery, personnel manager; Rosemary Fisher, assistant personnel manager.

Also, Beverly Cowan, secretary to Mr. Green; Edna Holder, switchboard operator; Louise Jennee, secretary to Mr. Klein; Betty McEnery, secretary to A. Serocke, specialty sales; Rosemary Spearman, co-operative advertising; and Ethel Tartas, cashier.

Mr. Moulton, a native of Peoria, Ill., started as an order checker in the domestics department of the Marshall Field & Company Wholesale Division in Chicago August 21, 1925. Within two months he was made assistant in the sheet department.

In 1933 he became manager of the Sheet Department and in 1936 was transferred to New York where he was assistant merchandise manager of all domestics. In December, 1938, he was again made manager of the Sheet Department.

Looking on as Miss Minter opens gifts, from left, front row, Edna Holder, Louise Jennee, Rosemary Fisher, C. E. Moulton, Betty McEnery, Rosemary Spearman, Ethel Tartas, Hugh A. Brown; back row, John Biery, Lewis Lee, E. Stanley Klein, Jr.

He subsequently was named division vice president—sheet mechandising and continued to serve in that capacity until his retirement. During 1947 and 1948 he also was manager of the Lace Curtain Department.

Miss Minter was born at Martinsville, Va. and attended Ferrum Training School, a high school and junior college. She then took a two-year business course at Cook's Business School in Roanoke, Va.

She was employed September 6, 1926, as secretary to Lonnie S. Neal, purchasing agent, Carolina Cotton and Woolen Mills Company, Inc. (owned by Marshall Field & Company).

Transferred To New York

In 1933 she became secretary to George Lawson Ivie, assistant to Luther H. Hodges, then manager of the Carolina Cotton and Woolen Mills Company. She was transferred to New York when Mr. Ivie was appointed merchandise manager of the Domestics Division.

Miss Minter was secretary to Howard W. Grunau, merchandise manager from October 1, 1954, until Mr. Grunau retired June 30, 1956. She then worked for various departments as needed and during this period worked for Messrs. G. W. Moore, H. A. Brown, L. H. Lee, C. E. Moulton, and J. J. Bedell.

On January 1, 1957, she became secretary to H. A. Brown, who was then manager of the Towel Department but who is now vice president—merchandising. She worked for Mr. Brown and his assistant, L. H. Lee, for over 11 years, up to time of her retirement.

YOUR ONE GIFT

THE UNITED WAY

works many wonders

MONDAY, OCTOBER 14, 1968