State Fair

helped in the booth, along with Raleigh college students who are members of Fieldcrest employees. This was the second year for the Fieldcrest Fashion Show and exhibit at the State Fair. Fair officials had requested the show to repeat the show and exhibit this year because of the wide attendance they attracted last year. Many favorable comments were offered by viewers after they had witnessed the fashion show and seen the domestics display was arranged by Buckner of the Fieldcrest Store and the Karastan exhibit by Sid Kent of the Karastan Marketing Division in New

Six Fieldcresters Donate Eighth Pint Of Blood

Six Fieldcresters became members of the one-gallon club by donating their eighth pint of blood at the October Bloodmobile in Eden. Many other Fieldcrest employees were among the 214 productive donors. Reaching the one-gallon donor level were Eugene Perry, an instrument man in the Blanket Mill Plant Service Department; James Walsh, an assistant foreman in the Karastan Service Center Shipping Department; and James Patterson, a weaver at the Blanket Mill. Also, Autry Lee Moore, supervisor of supervisory training; Frederick M. Powers, foreman of the Slash and Weave Department at the Blanket Mill; and Cleveland Scarce, a fixer-maintenance man at the Karastan Service Center.
