Is Profit A Dirty Word?

To some people, profit is a dirty word. But if profits are so dirty, how come ours is the most productive economic system, and yet it runs on profits?

A lot of people think profits are too big. They confuse profit with markup. Business averages only about 4 cents of profit per dollar of sales, 12 cents per dollar of invested capital.

Some people think profits come at the expense of employees. Actually, the most profitable businesses pay the highest wages and salaries.

A lot of people question the motives of profit-seeking. But, whatever a businessman's motives, profits serve a vital social function. Profits tell society what people want and losses tell society what people don't want.

A lot of people don't know what profits do. Profits are carrots that make business produce more efficiently. Losses are valuable, too, because they force change.

Far from being a dirty word, profits are an ingenious social invention to get producers to make what people want. In fact, the communists are having to re-invent profits for just that reason.

New Supervisory Appointments Announced

New supervisory appointments at the Bedspread Mill and the Draper Sheeting Mill have been announced, effective recently.

Joe T. Strickland joined Fieldcrest as a section foreman in the Bedspread Weaving Department. He is a native of Dadeville, Ala., and graduate of Auburn University with B. S. degree in textile management.

Prior to coming to Fieldcrest, Mr. Strickland was a supervisor with Burlington Industries at Cramerton. He also had previous textile experience with Westpoint Pepperell in Opelika, Ala., and with Opelika Manufacturing Co.

George L. Rhodes was promoted to section foreman-Weaving at the Bedspread Mill. He came to work for Fieldcrest in August, 1952, as a supply clerk in the Finishing Mill Supply Department and continued to work there until he entered the army in 1954.

In December, 1955, he returned to his former job and in 1957 was made head supply clerk at the Bedspread Mill. He later worked as an overhauler and a loom fixer before entering the supervisory training program in September, 1963. He was made assistant foreman-Winding at the Bedspread Mill in November, 1963, and became a training coordinator in October, 1969.

Jerry H. Corum was named a shift foreman in the Draper Sheeting Mill Weave Room. A native of Eden, he joined Fieldcrest in December, 1962, as a rug server in the Karastan Burling Department.

With the exception of two years spent in military service, he continued to work in the Burling Department until June, 1969, when he became a supervisory trainee. From November, 1969, until his latest appointment he worked as a supervisory trainee in the Sheeting Mill.

GOING UP IN SMOKE

Recent U. S. government statistics show that life expectancy among young men is reduced by an average of eight years among heavy cigarette smokers (over two packs a day) and four years among light (less than ½ pack a day) smokers.
