UF Drive Nears Completion

The United Fund campaign is nearing completion in the Fieldcrest plants and offices in Eden.

William D. Hicks, supervisor of quality control at Karastan Rug Mill and chairman of the Fieldcrest campaign, said results would be announced when all solicitations are received and final tabulations made.

The eligibility deadline for all prizes and awards in the campaign was noon Tuesday, October 3. All who had pledges or contributions turned in by that date will be eligible for the drawings and prizes and will be counted in determining the winners of the plaques and certificates.

The President's Plaque will be given by President William C. Battle to the mill with the highest percentage of employees contributing a Fair Share. The plaque is to be held for a year by the winning mill and rotates to next year's winner. The staff department having the highest percentage of Fair Share givers will receive a similar plaque.

Certificates of Merit will be presented by the Eden United Fund to each mill department and staff unit in which all employees pledge a Fair Share.

Each employee who pledges a Fair Share will be eligible for his mill's drawing for $15 gift certificates good for any purchase at the Fieldcrest Store.

Also, the names of all employees who pledge a Fair Share will be included in a drawing for the grand prize, a 9 x 12 Karastan rug, the pattern to be the choice of the winner.

Fieldcrest employees, along with the employees of other firms in the Eden area, are being asked to pledge on the Fair Share basis. The community-wide effort now under way is attempting to reach all employed persons at their places of employment.

The overall goal in this year's campaign is $146,000.
