

Non-Woven Employees Earn Barbecue For Good Safety Record

For achieving an average of 2,000 working hours per employee without a lost-time accident, the employees of the Non-Woven Mill were served a barbecue dinner in the mill Wednesday, September 17.

The mill has operated since March 8, 1974 without any lost time due to injury.

Paul E. Jones, superintendent, said:
"We are proud of the fine safety record the Non-Woven employees have established. We urge them to continue their interest in protecting themselves from injury both on and off the job."
