necessary since the transfer of the sewing and warehousing operations to Phenix City, Ala., in 1975 released space for the expansion of the weaving capacity at the Columbus mill.

Mr. Kametches said that in addition to the new looms, the project includes funds for modernizing existing looms. This work will be carried on along with the installation of the new looms.

The 1977 capital expenditure program comes on top of an expansion in 1976 when approximately $2½ million was spent on an expansion including the addition of 90 looms and resulting in approximately 70 additional jobs.

When the current project is completed, Fieldcrest will have spent a total of $14 million in its Columbus operation since 1972, including a new plant at Phenix City, Ala., for finishing and warehousing the products of the Columbus Towel Mill.
