

Kametches Tells Fieldale 25-Year Club Members

'You Are This Company's Greatest

"You are this company's most important asset," members of the Fieldale Towel Mill 25-Year Club were told by C. L. Kametches, division vice president, Bath Fashions Manufacturing.

The occasion was the annual Fieldale 25-Year Club meeting held on Saturday, September 17, at the Fieldale Elementary School.

Kametches, the principal speaker at the event, thanked the group for their loyalty and service to the company and told them that they were what had made the Fieldale Towel Mill "the greatest towel mill in the world."

Master of ceremonies at the meeting was S. R. Culligan, regional personnel manager, who called the meeting to order, welcomed and recognized guests and presented the new members.

C. G. Jolley, newly appointed plant manager of the Fieldale Towel Mill, spoke briefly to the group. C. Hoyt Wiggonton, division vice president and general manager, Fieldale Towel Manufacturing, introduced Kametches.

Entertainment was provided by "The Blue Ridge Partners," a country music group.

New members inducted into the club at the meeting were Mamie G. Bouldin, Aaron Chaney, Gladys C. Chaney, Claude A. Cobler, Virginia M. Compton, Virgie S. Cundiff, Mack H. Earles, Thelma D. Edwards, Eugene E. Foley, Frank W. Fulcher, Mildred M. Haynes and Ruth L. Hudson.

Also, Frank W. Hundley, Virginia H. Jarrett, Eugene B. Joyce, Hazel K. Joyce, William A. Martin, H. Clay Merriman, William D. Moore, Lydia B. Perry, Taft Randall, Herbert J. Roach, James T. Roach, Lenwood O. Shelton, Nira O. Stone, and Lemie L. Wright.

Other special guests attending the picnic were D. W. Sprouse, division vice president and general manager, Columbus Towel Manufacturing, who was formerly plant manager of the Fieldale Towel Mill; and W. O. Stone, division vice president, Rug and Carpet Manufacturing, who was formerly division vice president, Bath Fashions Manufacturing.

Although rain arrived late in the day, spirits weren't dampened in the least and a good time was had by all.

HAVING A GRAND TIME at the Fieldale 25-Year Club meeting, Steve Culligan, regional personnel manager, is seen with Bill Barbour, manager, Bath Fashions Information Services, and Mastern Horsley.

NEW MEMBERS raise their hands and are applauded during the Fieldale 25-Year Club meeting.

A SUMPTUOUS MEAL was served by various Fieldale supervisors. The group is Bill Barbour, manager, Bath Fashions Information Services, and Mastern Horsley.
