Santa Visits Scottsboro; Treats Employees' Kids

The annual Christmas party for children of Fieldcrest employees at Scottsboro Rug Mill was held Christmas Eve morning at the First Methodist Church in Scottsboro, Ala.

A short welcome by Joseph P. Foster, division vice president and general manager, followed the singing of Christmas carols.

Local magician Bernard Cabiness performed remarkable feats of sleight-of-hand which delighted the adults as well as the children.

Then, Old St. Nick himself arrived to help award door prizes and hear the last-minute wishes of those youngsters who needed to sit on his lap and add a few more items to their Christmas lists.

Each child was given a stocking of candy as the party ended.

Santa Claus greets Scottsboro employee Bobbie Dawson, a tagger in the Packaging Department, and her son, Timothy.
