

DO YOU CARE?

Student apathy can quickly and easily bring about failure of a school. What is it that causes such a lack of concern among college students today? What kindles it and nourishes so readily that it is enabled to spread across the nation?

Answers for these questions cannot come in any clear-cut statements. Too much goes into the development of student apathy for it to have a simple answer for its cause.

One thing is certain, however. There are ways to, at least, lessen the acuteness of such student feelings: by placing responsible people in the positions of trust and honor, by forming groups to discuss and try to work out campus problems, and by faculty and student representatives working together to curb any developments of apathy.

College students are young adults and should bear their responsibility to their school - that of keeping a healthy attitude. If everyone nourishes the that attitude it will not matter if no one attends church or classes, then there will soon no longer be any church or classes. It is as simple as that.

Students have a responsibility to care for their college. Our college has promise of a bright future. It would be a pity if such a thing as student apathy would ruin this future.

Our congratulations go to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Love who are the proud parents of a baby girl. Ken, as we know him, is a Freshman day-student here at M-A C.

SPORTS WORLD

RABON READY FOR REBOUNDS

The Cavaliers took two games from Asheville School for boys. Montreat defeated the Blues at home, on November 30, 90-70 and at Asheville, December 4, 70-61.

In between the two victories the Cavaliers suffered a 107-62 walloping from the powerful Gardner Webb Bulldogs on December 2. Four players scored in double figures for the Cavaliers but it was not enough to stop the Bulldogs. Leading the scoring was Dan Rabon with 20 points followed by Linwood Orenduff and Mike Clark with 2 each. Russell Shealy added another 10.

The first game with Asheville saw the Cavaliers set a new school scoring record with the 90 point outburst. The previous high, 80 points, was last year against Warren Wilson.

Dan Rabon was high scorer with 26 points. Russell Shealy bucketed 17 while Clark and Orenduff scored 12 each.

Montreat found the going a little rough when they traveled to Asheville School. Looking like they had never played basketball before, the Cavaliers trailed at the half by nine points, 34-25.

However the Cavaliers caught fire in the third quarter and with 1:38 to go in the third stanza Montreat went ahead to stay. The victory evened Montreat's record at 2-2. Leading scorer was Orenduff with 23 points. Rabon and Clark had 22 and 20 respectively. Shealy and Don Patrick dominated the reboundings for Montreat.
