

Evangelism Ministry On The Move

Nancy Nichols

The Student Christian Association on campus is divided into nine different sub-ministries. One of these is the Evangelism ministry which is headed up by Mickey McKinney.

Mickey was appointed by the SCA at the end of last semester. The former President of the SCA, Rick Franks, offered Mickey the position. At that time though, Mickey was running for an office in the SGA (Student Gov't.)

Both seemed appealing to McKinney but he was awaiting the outcome of the SGA elections. He was praying for the Lord's guidance in the situation. When he was defeated in the SGA elections, he took it as a sign to more prayerfully consider the SCA position.

For about the next week, Mickey prayed about the open position and then decided to take the Evangelism post.

In taking the Evangelism post, the SCA left it open to Mickey's ideas. McKinney says the former Evangelism leader, Valerie Morgan, was helpful in giving McKinney information and ideas.

To start off the Evangelism group, McKinney first held a prayer meeting during the first few weeks of school. Praying before and after "going out into all the world" seems to be an important part of the Evangelism ministry. The tradition has continued and every Tues. night at 6:00pm Mickey meets with the Evangelism group and "anyone who would like to come support us in prayer," he adds, to pray for the ministry, the people involved and the world situation.

There are 6 or 7 dedicated students, besides McKinney who meet every Sat. at 3:00pm to go on the Evangelism excursion. Usually there are also 3 or 4 more who also attend.

The team usually goes into downtown Asheville to witness, talk, and pray with people. There they meet a large diversity of the population: bums, street people, shoppers, Agnostics, Christians, and Jewish people. Another group of people that are sometimes met are the homosexuals, "which really challenged me . . . and I grew in a sense because [I realized] God loves all people," McKinney stated.

All people are not receptive to the students. One Sat. a student at M-AC was pushed by a person they tried to approach. Some of the students talk to the people one on one, others gather little groups together and have a "mini-sermon" out on the street. Not only do they witness to people who aren't Christians but sometimes they pray with those who are backslidden or just need encouragement.

The Evangelism team has been enjoying the "fruits of their labor." Several people the group has talked to have been saved, an average of 3-6 every weekend. McKinney comments, "That is the work of the Lord. It's nothing we do. Everything is done by the grace of God." But McKinney also adds, "To measure evangelism, you shouldn't count the number of people . . . if only one person was saved throughout the whole year, it would be worth it."

Some of the Evangelism ministry's long-range goals are to plan and perform a skit for Convocation and to sponsor a Fla. Beach Evangelism trip over Spring Break.

Good luck you all and Praise the Lord!

GOD, DO YOU LIKE SEX?

BY

Mimi Godoy

This was my question about sex to God.
Yesterday He talked to me.
God has rules. His rules are not our rules. He likes sex, the real sex.
He teaches us how we can use sex. I'm so glad because now I know. He is quite aware that for us many things are very difficult.
In my country, it is a tradition to be a virgin until married. But now, with the new waves, this changes. The young people don't want to believe in God's rules.
Many times I ask myself: If when God comes, will He count the virgins? Many questions, the young people have many questions. We need answers.
God, talk with us again.

Cavaliers Break Losing Streak

Kim Thompson

Just when you thought it was safe to not go to any more soccer games, something happens that changes your mind. "What's the use?", you asked. Then, out of nowhere, comes the cry, "They won! They won!" Could they be talking of our Cavaliers? Had all the hard work and cheering finally paid-off? Yes it's true! Montreat's beloved Cavaliers won Tuesday night. They beat Young Harris with a triumphant score of 4 to 0. A shut-out! Needless to say, Coach Fredrickson and the members of the team are excited. This victory has given them new hope for their future games. Now more than ever, the spirits are soaring in the hearts of all the soccer fans. Could this be the beginning of a winning streak? Let's hope so! Let's continue to support our Cavaliers! Keep the streak!
