

Call Goes Out for Urbana '90

By: Amy Adams

What in the world is Urbana '90? Well, I wondered the same thing. So I found out. Urbana '90 is a place to get informed, to come to understand God's will for your life, and to make decisions. Urbana '90 is a conference held at the University of Illinois, in which thousands of students, missionaries, faculty, pastors, and young professionals will join together to celebrate the message of hope found in Jesus Christ.

There will be many sessions and seminars from which to choose, including video, mine, drama and a concert that will all play a part in reinforcing the theme of Urbana '90, "Jesus Christ: Lord of the Universe. Hope of the World." There will also be over 120 seminars and over 200 exhibits available, as well as small group and personal time. Imagine worshiping, singing, and praying with nearly 20,000 other Christians.

Does it sound pretty interesting so far? Now that your interest has been piqued you will need to know when and where this incredible event will be. Urbana '90 will be held December 27-31, 1990, at the University of Illinois at Urbana/Champaign. It is sponsored by the Inter-University Christian Fellowship. These five days will speak to you, giving you His perspective and His heart for the world. Take five days to begin discovering what God wants of you.

To experience Urbana '90 is to experience God's working, through many different means, in your life. Urbana only comes once every three years. You may never get another chance to go, so take advantage of this incredible opportunity this year! For more details, contact Amy Adams or Professor Glassford. There is limited space available.
