

Mackinaw?!

By: Suzi Jay
Staff Writer

One of the most popular subjects on standardized tests these days is vocabulary. On a light and curious note, I asked 15 students what the word "mackinaw" meant. These are some of the answers that I recieved.

Boo Berry - to over exert oneself

Sonya Gentry - some body eating a Big Mac

Nicole McSwain - fear of not getting up for an 8:00 a.m. class

Susan Long - medicine
Hayley Jacobs-bananas and manwich smushed together

David Crook-Tylenol

Steve Walker - another name for Jack the Ripper

Kim Dockery - a bird (This student is obviously a Bio. burnout)

Stuart Nanney - pottery

Adrienne McCulloch - odd mountain

Hunter Stevenson - Indian sun

Ken Schmidt - a special deal a McDonalds that's run for a limited time

Although these were good answers, the only person who got it correct was our handy friend, Mr. Webster. It states that a mackinaw is a heavy woolen cloth; a warm belted coat of this.

HUDDLE HOUSE RESTAURANTS

BEST FOOD YET

M-AC
Students and Faculty
Free Waffle
w/ $2 or more Purchase

Good Thru 11/29/90

 Live!

Friday Night...

From 7:00pm
to 1:00am

Belk
Campus
Center

The Star Wars Trilogy