some of them. Why does everything have to be a headline of unsubstantiated gobbledegook! A good number of the students on this campus seem to have a field day letting everyone else know something they think about someone else.

I've heard several rumors this year, myself (I'm sure you have too). I've asked some of the people they concern. Good people, who are hurt by the innuendoes. So far, I have yet to see truth in any of them. Think back to ones that you have heard. When you see the person they concern, ask them about it. It's far easier to turn to the next person and say, "Y'know what I just heard," than to actually find out the truth first.

Will it really be to much trouble to find out? Being a Christ centered institution, as Montreat is, it worries me to see the large amount of gum flapping that goes on. Now I know I'm probably one of the last people that should be preaching about attitudes. I'm standing on a shakey soapbox as it is. I don't propose to be perfect (no human is). All we can do is try our best to be Christ-like in our attitudes towards others and the way we arbitrarily sling mud.

I hope that maybe some part of this "holier-than-thou" type editorial tapped some nerve. Writing it tapped several of mine. So maybe next time you accidentally put your foot in your mouth it won't taste like you've been stepping through refuse.

The words of a gossip are like choice morsels, they go down to a man's inmost parts.

Correction. Correction. Correction

By Kelth D. Robinson

In the last issue of this newspaper, the article on the recent changes to the computer science department reported that the department had recently purchased a scanner. This information is incorrect. The scanner is the personal property of Biology Professor Mike Sonnenberg. This error is due to a failure on my part to communicate effectively with prominent persons in this matter. I wish to express my regret for this error and apologize for it.

The Home Boys

By Kim Holt
Staff Writer

The Presbyterian Home For Children Ministry is off to a great start this year! The Kick-Off picnic was a wonderful success and most of the children at the Home have been provided with a Big Brother or Sister.

Many renovations have recently been made to the Children's Home. Wren says he has seen a large turn-over in the staff in the year that he has been at the Home. A positive outlook for the future of the Home comes with the arrival of the new director, Bob Mahanes.

I spoke with two residents of the Home for Children last week. Larry is a sports lover and hopes to one day go pro. He wants to go either to Clemson or UNC-A. Larry has been involved in the Big Brother/Big Sister Program for seven or eight years.

Tommy Dembinsky, 15, from Peshtigo, Wisconsin, has been in the Children's Home for only two weeks now. His hopes are to go to a university in Florida and study Zoology. He enjoys drama, band, snow skiing and dancing. Both Tommy and Larry are sophomores at Owen High School.

Each of the kids at the Children's Home has his or her own individual personalities and interests, and each is cared for by houseparents who maintain interest in their spiritual well-being, as well as their physical and educational needs.

Time at the Children's Home is divided for recreation, chores, and studies. Rick Wren, houseparent for the younger boys in Perry Hall, says there is a need now for dedicated tutors in the evenings for a couple of hours once or twice a week. He is also interested in students who will simply come over in the afternoon and be involved in recreation time with the kids.

If you are interested in either tutoring, leading, or organizing a Bible Study Ministry Team, or simply going over some afternoon to play; contact Mark Tucker or JoAnna Knowles.
