

Domingues Discovers Art Through "Explorations"

Display Reveals Christ Via Photography

By Daniell Hartness

"Explorations" is senior Frances Domingues' theme for her display of photographs located in the Gallery, room 202 on the second floor of the Belk Campus Center.

The pictures range from people engaging in different poses, to trees, to more abstract shots. Intense music accompanies the display to create an emotional atmosphere.

The opening reception was last Friday night, April 8, from 7-9pm. Domingues chuckled as she stated that the last picture was hung at 6:45pm, only a mere fifteen minutes before show time. The food for the reception, also had just arrived.

She recalled how nervous she was at first, but that she received a lot of help before the reception.

Domingues expressed, "I felt supported by students, the community, and friends."

The exhibition will continue until Friday, April 22. The gallery hours are 9am-6pm, Monday through Friday. The gallery will be open on weekends and evenings by appointments if desired. The number to call to make appointments is: 255-9223.

Psychology major and art minor, Domingues desires to get her masters in Art Therapy. She explained that this is a fairly new field and is in demand.

The gallery display is Domingues' final requirement before completing her Art minor.

Domingues' pictures not only reveal her talent for photography but also represent her own personal testimony. With a fervent look, she expressed that she herself has gone on explorations for things in her own life, and that these explorations brought her full circle back to Christ.

Professional Authors Instruct Writer's Workshop

By Chad Smith

"Breaking Into the Business of Writing", a one day writer's workshop sponsored by the Humanities Department of M-AC, will be held Saturday, April 16 in Gaither Hall from 9am to 3pm.

The cost of this workshop for full-time students is $10. If registered by April 11, the cost is $40, and the cost will be $50 per person at the door.

The seminar will be led by assistant professor of History and Education Bill Forstchen, along with Jody Lynne Nye and Bill Fawcett.

Forstchen has authored 14 science fiction novels, Nye has authored 16 science fiction and fantasy novels, and Fawcett is an author, editor, publisher, and book packager in mystery, historical fiction, fantasy, and science fiction.

Forstchen explained the purpose of the workshop, "It's an opportunity for people to meet with a professional editor and professional writers. It's not going to be a seminar to help you be a writer. We assume that you are. But, it is going to be a seminar that shows you the business side of it."

Movie Renews Interest in C.S. Lewis

By Daniell Hartness

"C.S. Lewis: The Man and His Times" will be the topic of the Spring Humanities Lecture Series.

There will be an informal lecture led by Dr. Don King, Vice-President for Academic Affairs.

The event has been scheduled for Monday, April 18, at 7:30pm in the Fellowship Hall of Gaither Chapel.

It is an event sponsored by both M-AC and Alpha Chi.

Recently, there was a movie entitled Shadowlands which intrigued viewers. The movie focused mostly on Lewis' relationship with his wife and other important people.

King will be speaking on such topics in detail and there will be an informal question and answer session after the lecture.

The lecture will be focused toward students, faculty, and the general public. The meeting is expected to last about one hour.

King expressed his excitement about the lecture, "It will be a fun and enjoyable evening. [The purpose is so that] Lewis the man will be more accessible to people."

Scouring Flat Creek... "Stream Cleaning" Begins This Sunday

This Sunday, April 17, at 4pm, the M-AC Environmental Policy and Law class will be sponsoring the second annual "Stream Cleaning".

The event is part of the M-AC "Adopt a Stream" program. The Outdoor Recreation and Environmental Studies Departments have chosen Flat Creek to clean-up, maintain, and protect.

This is to ensure the river's beauty and health.

Each year, M-AC students and faculty sponsor a spring cleaning. The clean up this Sunday will begin at the section near East Cotton Street Bridge and will finish at the Montreat Gate.

The event is open to all community members, as well as to students and faculty.

Two More Conference Victories Needed

Cavs Challenge Bluefield Tomorrow

By Sean Anderson

The Cavalier baseball team was defeated by Baptist-affiliated Gardner-Webb last Friday, April 8, during a conference home game by a margin of 10-0.

The following day, the Cavs split during a double header against Virginia Intermont on home turf. In the first game, the Cavs lost by a final score of 6-5. The main scorers for the Cavs during the game, each contributing one run were: J. R. Cunningham, Chris Hoyle, Aaron McCall, Lance McCall, and Brad Proffit.

The Cavs came back in the second game, and crushed their opponents with a score of 12-1. Players Mitch Glenn, Lance McCall and Joe Snyder each belted in one home run. J. J. Altizer and Chad Greene aided the team's effort with one run each.

Today the team will travel approximately three hours to Bluefield College, located in Bluefield, Virginia, to face off in three conference games.

Bluefield's 85 acre campus is twice the size as M-AC, and not only is Bluefield in the NAIA conference, but also is a member of the NLCAA conference as well. Mark Blevins is the coach of the baseball team at Bluefield.

On April 19, the Cavaliers will travel 17 miles in a short distance trip to compete in Justice Gym against the University of North Carolina at Asheville

Domingues emphasized that her talent for photography was God-given and she uses her talent to show that Christ is in her life, "I give Him all of the thanks and praise."

The photographs, for Domingues, contain emotional and impactful meaning. Ascribing photography as a therapy for her, she described her art as her journal and visual novel.

(UNC-A).

On Wednesday, April 20, the Cavs will be back at home to challenge Church of God-affiliated Anderson University. Anderson has an enrollment of 2,133 students, about four times the size of M-AC. The boys from Indiana will have a long road trip before vying against M-AC.

Player Mitch Glenn announced, "We are gonna have to win at least two out of three conference games to be competitors in the conference tournament."

Some members of the team have received honors for their skills. Lance McCall has been awarded Player of the Week twice this season, while Shane Hatcher was awarded Pitcher of the week once.

The teams' record, so far is 9-16 and 4-6 for the Conference record.
