Salmon Croquettes
Serve these croquettes full-size for dinner with baked potatoes and a crisp green salad, or make them in miniature for deliciously different hors d'oeuvres. If you're lucky enough to have any left over, serve cold for luncheon with buttered black bread and sliced cucumbers tossed with sour cream. To serve 4 you'll need:

1 can (15 1/2 oz) salmon
1/2 cup bread crumbs
1/4 cup diced green onion
1 tbs. lemon juice
1 tbs. mayonnaise
1/2 tsp. crumbled dill weed
1/4 tsp. garlic powder
Preheat oven to 350

degrees F. Drain salmon. Combine with bread-crumbs, onion, lemon juice, mayo, dill and garlic powder. Form into 4 large croquettes for main course or 2 dozen balls for appetizer. Place on greased cookie sheet. Bake 20 minutes. Serve with tartar sauce on the side. To get the most for your money when you buy canned salmon, by all means eat the skin and bones. They're easily mashed and blended into the recipe, and are an excellent source of calcium, vitamins A & D, niacin, riboflavin, iodine and protein.

Remodeling Solves Kitchen Design Problem

As rising costs and high interest rates cause a decline in new home construction, Americans are changing their ideas about their dream home.

Instead of buying a new home, more and more families are remodeling and updating their present home. Residential remodeling continues to be a booming business. The U.S. Census Bureau estimates Americans spent $11.1 billion in 1980 for alterations within the home.

W.L. Grim, General Electric vice president and general manager of Major Appliance Contract Sales, anticipates that in the remodeling business, kitchen remodeling will be the biggest both in total units and dollar volume in the coming year.

C. Jean Mattingly, Certified Kitchen Designer (CKD), manager of home modernization for GE tells of one such project involving the small kitchen of Jeanne and David Basset of Monticello, KY.

The kitchen had obvious problems involving insufficient storage space, inadequate lighting, inefficient placement of appliances and a lack of usable work space. Ms. Mattingly believed remodeling would solve these design problems.

"The appliances were poorly arranged, storage areas were not convenient, and there wasn't enough counter space," she noted. "While windows provided light when it was bright outside, they weren't used to their best advantage, and there wasn't proper illumination for the work areas."

First, to increase usable work space, functional countertops were added, changing the shape of the kitchen from an "L" to a "U". Adding the peninsula across from the new side-by-side GE refrigerator also created additional convenient work space.

Next, the problem of insufficient storage space was solved by adding cabinets throughout the kitchen. Also, designing a small appliance center permits these appliances to be stored easily when not in use, but close at hand when needed. Additional storage was created with the floor-to-ceiling broom closet built next to the refrigerator, and overall kitchen space was increased by removing a small wall between the old kitchen and the new sitting area. The peninsula/bar now serves as a room divider as well. The GE 1200 Pot-scrubber® dishwasher's location allows easy loading and unloading of dishes onto this counter.

Installing a grill-surface cooktop was another efficient use of space. Cabinets are located beneath the unit, and in this particular kitchen, slide-out shelves alleviate awkward bending and kneeling to reach pots and pans. Even the built-in spice rack places that extra dash of salt within reach.

The cooktop, however, is only one component of the overall baking center. To the side of the cooktop is a built-in double oven microwave cooking center. The upper microwave features Automatic Cooking Control which incorporates special humidity sensors to automatically adjust cooking time to the food being prepared.

The ovens were placed at an angle replacing the window over the old refrigerator. As the designer pointed out, the window was of no value so was closed up. Illumination was improved by installing area lighting in the lowered ceiling and under-cabinet fluorescent lighting.

This remodeled kitchen now permits more efficient work. Just as important, it possesses a pleasing appearance and atmosphere that makes the Basset's house their dream home.

Tips To Help You

If gas prices get to be too much for you, there may be another way to get where you're going at less cost than if you drove. Last year, 374 million passengers traveled in low-cost comfort to nearly 15,000 destinations by the most fuel-efficient transportation available... intercity bus.

Travelers who take a charter bus or a tour, will often find that their bus ticket covers more than just

Buses not only save money for travelers, but for people who send packages, too. Because buses go everywhere a road goes, you can send a package almost anywhere in the country and, in many cases, it will be delivered overnight.

OCTOBER Birthdays

If you or a loved one were born in October, you share your birthday with these famous people:

October 4: Was the birthday of Rutherford B. Hayes, nineteenth president of the United States. He was born in Delaware, Ohio, in 1822.

October 6: On this day in 1820, Jenny Lind, the Swedish operatic and concert singer, was born.

October 11: Dwight D. Eisenhower, thirty-fourth president of the United States, was born in 1889 at Denison, Texas.

October 23: Rosine Bernard, later to become internationally famous as the French actress Sarah Bernhardt, was born in Paris, France, on this day in 1845.

These famous birthdays were researched for the purposes of Johnnie Walker Red, whose people have created a unique "greeting card" gift box that provides gift-givers with a gift and a greeting card in one. Now you can give a bottle of scotch and a pictorial birthday card at no extra cost.
