OUTDOOR SHOW

NEW ENTERTAINMENT GOES BIG AT "Y."

The first of a series of outdoor entertainments was successfully staged at the "Y" Friday last and was in the form of a musicale.

Secretary Jesse Gray, alias Elder Cobb, alias Low Brow, made his usual hit with his monologue and songs, introducing a number of original verses set to popular songs which we hope he will have published for they are sure to make a big hit with the singing public.

Mrs. J. H. Armbrust, sang a number of songs in an artistic manner, and was well received by the large audience.

A soldier song by Mrs. Walter Scott of the choir of the first Presbyterian church at Charlotte, won hearty approval.

Private Gates, medical supply depot, although suffering with a severe cold, sang with his usual technique and expression.

Miss Lavina Boyer gave a number of dialect stories that gave her ample opportunity to display her ability to mimic a number of characters, and the audience were loathe to see her

IN JOE'S WAKE.

Secretary Joe Downie states that copies of Charlotte Observer will be on file in the K. of C. building.

He also wants all the boys to know that a new supply of postcards have arrived, which are distributed gratuitously.

"Joe" is planning another surprise to be held in the near future in the way of a vaudeville entertainment. He states that he can still use a few more long-haired artists who can either sing, play or act. So all of you specialists confer with Stage Manager Secretary Joe Downie and sign up.

I suppose some of you have noticed Joe polishing up the tennis and basketball courts. He claims that the hot weather is nearly over and with the advent of the cooler days, the boys will surely feel the call of the tennis racquet and basketball. You've gotta give him credit, Al.

end her part of the program.

Call and get cards and write home.

Eat with Will Shakespeare and Robin Hood

You remember the Meat Pasties that Shakespeare loved to write about and Robin Hood feasted on? You never ate one—but you can on Sunday, August 25th.

A tender North Carolina Veal has just been received at O'NEILL'S, and the choicest and most luscious bits of that veal are going into a Veal Pastie just for you—IF you get there before it is all gone.

Glance into the kitchen and watch it made. See that large deep shining pan all lined with flakey crust—as light as an angel's kiss? Now watch what goes into it—the rich gravy is already simmering yonder on the range—that's the wonderful odor you are sniffing now—see the things that are going into the pastie—squares of veal so tender they melt in your mouth—nutmeg, pepper, salt, spices, whipped eggs, a glass of fragrant antique—we will say GRAPE JUICE—and then all the gravy that the filled pan will hold poured in over the veal—and a golden airy top crust covering it all.

VEAL PASTIE A-LA NORTH CAROLINA

Don't come to O'Neill's Sunday if you only have fifteen minutes in which to bolt your lunch. You can no more get the full delight of a veal pastie by bolting it in fifteen minutes than you can make love to a girl in fifteen seconds. This is a sensation to enjoy—and it will bring back memories of the old-fashioned dining room at home.

This is one of the Fifty Dishes at O'Neill's that bring memories of home.
