

THROUGH THE CAMP

122ND INFANTRY

BANQUET AND BALL.

On last Thursday evening, September 12, the officers of the second battalion gave to its non-commissioned officers a banquet and ball. At 8 o'clock sporty looking non-coms began arriving on the scene, after taking a second look we discovered hanging on their arm a most charming young Charlotte lady. After each party having been introduced the grand march began. (And take it from me boys, it was a (grand march) breaking into one of those dreamy fox trots. The floor being waxed to a perfection and the hall decorated perfectly, caps, whistle and oodles of confetti being issued to each lady proved to every one that the ball was a success. Promptly at 10:30 the banquet began. Modesty forbids us telling what the eats consisted of. Plenty of good music, good-looking sergeants and corporals and above all the charming young ladies of Charlotte brought this banquet to a successful close. The McDonalds are responsible for those classy eats.

COMPANY H.

It has been reported that Corporal Satterfield is still looking for Mole with fixed bayonet.

Private Mark Dyer is still being visited by his parents and sister from South, Illinois.

Mrs. Skelton and father spent the week-end with her hubby, Corporal Skelton.

Corporal James is all smiles since the Mrs. spent the week-end with him. She returned home Sunday night.

Mrs. Farr was the most welcome guest to old good looking Sergeant Farr, her better half.

Cook Peterson has at last changed that five spot after riding free all week on the trolley cars.

Private Wolniewicz has been declared the ugliest man in the company.

Mess Sergeant (Of Course) is a beautiful (man.) We simply adore him.

Cooks McDon'd were visited by their mother and sister from Atlanta this week-end.

Privat Amoe will understand hereafter to obey orders. Army is army. He is only a private and does not command the company. We regret to announce that he is detained in the company street for quite a while.

Private Trimmell seems perfectly satisfied now that Mrs. Trimmell is here.

Our speedy fire department which is commanded by Chief Moore and Assistant Chief White is on the job when it comes to rushing buckets to the flames.

Mechanic Lebon is very happy since he became a father. The child came through mail and we are wondering who sent it.

COMPANY F.

Lieutenant Morrison seems to be quite a kodak fiend. We are wondering why the photographs do not show smiling countenance of ladies instead of ugly soldiers.

Captain O'Keefe, our battalion commander, is being visited by his mother and sister. They seem very well pleased with his new quarters and snappy battalion.

Private O'Connell has changed his address from Camp Greene to Charlotte. The first sergeant wishes it known that O'Connell is going to pay the company a visit.

Bugler Milam is back with the corps after doing three weeks' special duty at the personnel office at camp headquarters.

Lieutenant McCullers has certainly made a wonderful change in our selected bugle corps.

COMPANY G.

Privates Hut, Hart, Tremary, Timmons and Zimmerman were visited by their wives. Pardon G. Company this week.

COMPANY E.

Sergeant Dill Britton wishes it publicly known that he attended church with escort last Sunday. We are wondering the identity of the escort.

Sergeant Hogan spent Sunday in Gastonia, reason unknown.

Sergeant Barr after a peaceable night rest will return to bed early this morning.

Second Lieutenants Brotherton and Thomas are new assignments to this command and are very popular among the boys.

Corporal Allen left Charlotte last Friday for Atlanta to become a (benefit), but he forgot that it took two to make a pair. Girls, he isn't married.

"Oh, joy!"

TRUCK COMPANY 330

Sgts. Mason and Seaf have a new Dusengurg.

Tuesday, September 17, was "Sukar" Seahorn's Fourth of July. Pretty long thirty days, wasn't it, Jum?

Sgts. Pickering and Moore don't agree with Sherman as to war. They say that spring bunks must have been invented since that time.

Property Sergeant James has an assistant helping him now. Maybe the Senator can get a little rest now.

Corporal Lynch says he would like to stay in Charlotte after the rest of the soldiers leave.

Sgt. Sheridan, alias Larry the Bat, has been in the hospital too long to suit him. We wish you were back, Bud.

Sgt. Prause claims he has had only one letter since coming to Camp Greene. Absence makes the heart grow fonder, Jack,—for some one else.

"Gas" Peterson wants to transfer to some branch of the service where they do bunk fatigue 24 hours a day.

Teacher (Top Sgt. Larson:) What's the subject for today, children?
Class: "Geese" up.

ORDNANCE DEPOT.

Ordnance Sergeant Singer, et. al., of the Ordnance Company have been absent for several days on pass. Sergeant Singer now complains of an attack of malaria.

Canteen Sergeant Rosenthal, late of the Horse section in the warehouse, has now returned to his arduous duties in the rehabilitated canteen. "Rosie" is going to have an opening soon and claims that the drinks will be on the house.

1st Cl. Pvt. Saeiwitz is debating whether or not, he shall or shall not, become canteen assistant.

Lieutenant Link of Camp Hancock has recently added to the commissioned personnel of this company. He is company exchange officer and also is in charge of the gun shop and magazines.

Ordnance Sergeant Roy A. Lindquist has been spending the past ten days on furlough in Chicago. A very realistic word picture of his adventures is expected upon his return.

Despite press reports to the contrary, no member of the Ordnance company has as yet espied an automobile advertising a free ride. Some members of the organization, frequent visitors in Charlotte, are said to be losing their eyesight in the effort.

Private Brandt, Charlotte's social lion, has spent two nights at home during the past week.
