FINAL ROUND

K. OF C. NEWS.

The second round of the pool tournament played at the K. of C. building is finished and the winners are as follows: A. C. Huffman, Wilford Connors, James McFadden, Karl Dalquist, Leo Russell, Pat Singer, Wilber Goddard, J. Mott.

In the following round the players are matched as follows: Wilber Goddard vs. Pat Singer; James McFadden vs. A. E. Hoffman; Wilford Connors vs. J. Mott; Leo Russell vs. Karl Dalquist.

The names of the winning players and their opponents are posted on the board at the K. of C. building and the games will be started as soon as possible. The table can be secured at any time. Get together boys and finish as we want to get another tournament started.

TELLS EXPERIENCES

The visit of Mr. and Mrs. Van Ripper at the Y buildings this week was one feature that was highly interesting. Mrs. Van Ripper has just recently returned from France and Mr. Van Ripper from Russia. They are both doing Y. M. C. A. work and told of their experiences.

LINES.

Where once the seagulls slowly winged,
The vulture only soars;
A sanded stretch of desert mourns
The hele of vanished shores:
And tho' long since the quivering waves
Went out with vanished tides,
The shells remain and coral clings
long the mountain sides.

The fiery flash and thunder crash,
The starry fates of men,
The purple prides of royal thrones
Where kingly crowns have been—
Like vanished tides these all will pass
And leave the sands to tell
Their splendor in the levelled graves—
The coral and the shell.

A grave for me in fields of France,
'Tis road to Heaven's Gate;
And though the eyes of Fame not see,
What better gift of fate!
The after suns will green and grass—
Perhaps a child will place
A shell to ear and sound those seas
The coral levels trace.

DISCHARGED.

Private Wilfred Bennett, who has been a patient in the hospital for several months because of rheumatic attacks has been granted a discharge and has returned to his home

NEW IDEA.

Folks Back Home week started yesterday in the Y huts over the camp. Booths have been fixed up and young ladies from Charlotte have charge of them. They are telling the soldier boys about the idea and the great international "Association men," and how it keeps the Folks Back Home informed.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

Every soldier who is used to religious services on Sunday and through the week should not forget that every Sunday morning at every Y. M. C. A. hut at 10 o'clock and at 8 o'clock every Sunday evening special services are held. Mid-week services are also held each Wednesday night at all the huts.

BREEZES BACK

Probably some of the wild sea breeze assisted Sgt. Hyneman in returning here after his leave spent in and about Boston, consuming quantities of the famous B. B. Beans for which the army is not noted.

QUIET WEEK.

This has been a rather quiet week for the Y. M. C. A. in all the huts although the appearance of the Orpheus Four was a real treat and enjoyed by every soldier who had the pleasure of hearing them.

RETURNS.

Physical director for the Y. M. C. A. A. E. Bergman has returned from Blue Ridge where he has been giving instruction to those in attendance at the Y. M. C. A. school of instruction. Mr. Bergmann will again put the pep in athletics in Camp Greene and has already begun the organization of teams in soccer, basket ball, base ball, tennis, foot ball and most every sport going. He is one of the finest directors in the country and expects to put the camp on the map in athletics again.

TO THE OFFICE

To replace Pvt. Wilkisson, Jesse C. Trott has been assigned to duty in the detachment office with "the powers that be" where in time he may round out to be full fledged one.

GETTING THINGS DONE

OFFICERS OF 423RD RESERVE LABOR BATTALION.

The 423rd Reserve Labor Battalion was organized on August 29, 1918, with the following commissioned officers: Captain Timothy E. Lowney, commanding; Second Lieutenant Ibert E. Bergin, adjutant; Second Lieutenant George Reeder, supply officer, and the following first lieutenants as Company Commander "A" Co. Joseph A. Mahoney, "B" Co. Thomas W. Swinson, "C" Co. James S. McKeown and Second Lieutenant F. Oscar Larson "Co" Co.

These officers were sent here from Newport News, Va., to organize this battalion but soon after things were beginning to go well, Captain Lowney was relieved as commanding officer and was ordered to report back to Newport News as commander of a battalion for oversea duty. First Lieut. James S. McKeown has held the distinction of C. O. since. The officers as shown are as follows: Seated, Captain Timothy E. Lowney; standing, from left to right, Lieutenants Larson, Bergin, McKeown, Mahoney and Swinson.
