

SURGERY NOTES

NO OPERATIONS.

The operating suite and its busy days belong to the past. At the present time influenza not being alone content to make itself known has appeared officious enough to assume to "star role" at the entire camp. Consequently operations have been discontinued until the epidemic is over, except in cases of emergency.

Misses Kelly and Lanor formerly of the operating room personnel have been placed in charge of influenza ward on D street.

Miss Peterson is located on C street trying to live up to the past by co-operating with Capt. Webster in follow up work in surgery.

Miss Sonner is keeping the home fires burning at the deserted pavillion awaiting the coming of deserted days.

WHEN THEY COME.

Where profound silence reigns supreme,
And footsteps now are hushed and still.

A week or two and they will beam.
When the boys come in to give us drill.

A cut, a scratch, a stitch, a seam,
The Wayland-Farr team works with will.

Grave faces, lined with joy, unseen
Soon the boys'll come in to give us drill.

WHOA!

Lieut. Thomas, anaesthetist, one of the latest students of the famous Hunt system of typewriting, is daily becoming more efficient in this art. However we hope that he will not acquire too great speed; a slower process allowing him the privilege of turning to smiles without making mistakes is to be preferred.

We regret exceedingly to hear of the departure of Captain Kimmel, Capt. Conterno, Lieuts. Milen, Sparkman for overseas duty. We wish them all success for a safe return.

IN THE HOSPITALS.

Capt. Sid Darling, Medical Supply Officer, is ill in the Officers' Ward with an attack of influenza. During his stay in the Hospital the class in Necromancy which he was instructing will be discontinued.

LIEUTENANT MARRIES.

Lieutenant Frank Aeschelski, of Remount Station 306, Camp Greene, was married last Saturday morning, at 10 o'clock, at the Second Presbyterian church parsonage, to Miss Marie Coppala, of 405 West Twelfth street. The Rev. A. A. McGeachy performed the ceremony.

After a ten days' vacation spent in New York City. Capt. McLean is back at his old job.

CAMP Q. M. C.

PERSONAL ITEMS

Q. M. Sgt. Henry C. Roberts has received his orders to report to Louisville, Ky., at the Artillery Officers' Training school.

What will the finance do now that Sgt. Mathes has gone to Jacksonville. Things will be uphill from now on. Never mind Sgt. Myrick is still here.

Sgt. Smith of Motor Transportation was held up by the sentry as he was putting his car in the garage. It seems he had been out burning the midnight oil.

Sgt. Kelly reported to the Transportation office for duty last week having transferred from Truck Company 330.

The Q. M. Quartette composed of Sgt. Dolan, Corporal Berger, Corporal Crawford and Sgt. 1st Class Marcus is a sufficient bugle call. It is heard at Reveille and retreat.

Sgt. Dobkins of the utilities branch has been teaching the men in his squad manual of arms with a broom.

If Q. M. Sgt. Howard Rogers had pipe dreams the tobacco he smoked would be made in Philadelphia.

Sgt. Day has returned from the Base Hospital where he has been convalescing from the automobile accident that attracted so much attention a few weeks ago. He is doing light duty now and hopes to be fully recovered soon.

The remaining men of the old regime in Property Branch, Sgt. Coplon, and Corporals Vogt, Kreimer and Dreesen are busy instructing men in their branch. They are teaching the limited service men how to limit service clothes.

Attention: Q. M. Sgt. Fay Albright of Subsistence Branch, is awaiting his orders. Rest.

Sgt. Slattery has been appointed supply Sgt. for the Detachment. He issues forth in full charge.

Sgt. Ben Edwards is in love and he don't mind telling it.

Corporal Charlie Craig has returned from the Base, where he had been under the influence of influenza.

Sgt. James Anderson, of Fuel and Forage, has been looking over the Finance Office to see how he would like it should he receive his orders soon.

Sgt. Morris, the top-kicker, is becoming very hard boiled about the influenza. Rest.

Sgt. Ben Byl is expected to return soon from the Base Hospital.

Private 1st Class McMullen of Finance was recently promoted to Sgt. Sgt. 1st Class. Risen from the ranks.

Sgts. Dolan, Streed, Rothschild, Melvil Miller, Quinn, Welser, and Corporals Crawford, Joshua Phillips, Jackson and old man Smith are among those recently sent to the Base Hospital on account of the influenza.

A Motor Transport Corps is now being formed, its nucleus being member Quartermaster Corps. The names of the men are as follows: Q. M. Sgt. Pete Stinger, Sgt. Dillon, Sgt. Vantor, and Privates De Young, Blake, Beck, Brewer and Evans.

Sgt. Stinger of the Finance office does not like the indoor games.

Sgt. Andrews of Finance has the symptoms of a 2nd Lieutenant.
