

THE END MAN

Say, Rastus did yo' eber eat any ob this'chere ground hog?

No, Ah kaw'n't say as I eber did fo' about all I eber heard about de ground hog, dey onley comes out ob de groun' in February, ain't dat de one what you means?

Ah, don' mean nufin' like dat.

What is it den, I'se wan to know just what dis gound hog is, tell me what you-all think de ground hog am like.

Why, yo' po'r ignorant person gound hog's sausage.

If yo' was in de army and you did something dat yo' shouldn't a have 'one and de colonel tells yo' dat yo' are gwain get shot at sun-rise what would you-all do, tell me now, sure-nuff?

What would Ih do, why pray fo' a cloudy day ob course what yo' Think?

VETERANS GOING.

The veterans of Camp Greene will soon be going! Of the thirty-five original men sent into federal service by the Dunwoody Technical Institute, Minneapolis, June 1, 1917, thirteen remain at this camp. On August 5, 1917, these thirty-five men arrived in Charlotte, the first soldiers to arrive here after the camp was started. A few months ago this original company was split up and the men sent to camps in other states, with the exception of the thirteen still on duty here. Very unfortunately none of these early volunteers ever saw foreign service. However the work these men have done and the different organizations they have instructed have made their accomplishment worthy of mention. Thirty-four of the men are yet in federal service, and all are non-commissioned officers. From here the remaining thirteen expect to be sent to some other camp within this department for duty. The original veterans of Camp Greene are: Sergeants Demers, Colburn, Cummings, Galloway, Goodin, James, Johnson, Kinzle, Kelly, McMullen, Prause, Sheridan and Thul.

YOU KNOW.

Republican Congressman Mann of Illinois, knows of what he is talking, when in his speech to congress assailed the actions of company and detachment commanders for holding in the service unnecessarily men who should be discharged. The New York Herald issued January 16, comments very favorably on the subject from the viewpoint of the enlisted man. One thing we do know that there is a wide difference between a salary of $160 per month and that of $30. You know the rest.

Private Wylie enjoys being on guard at the new post, as he receives all the latest dope from Headquarters. This is no Bull.

"That's me all over, Mable," is very popular among the fellows at present. Lieutenant Streeter certainly has brought many a laugh to the soldiers. It is interesting to know that his two small books are in greater demand than any other hook of recent writing.

"Hey! wait a minute, Corporal. What's that mystery going about the Service Park Unit? I know you don't want to tell, but is it something about some bent screw drivers? Eh? Oh! You say Lieutenant Klein know all about them. All right. Possibly he knows who bent them by this time.

The new Goldbrick Club is growing very rapidly, with new members joining each day. Possibly soon this club could entertain the S. O. L. Club at the Base Hospital. Some entertainment!!!!

Corporal, Oh! Corporal! Where did you wander last Tuesday night? Carnahan, in part of your wanderings we would have enjoyed being with you, but the rest we would have deserted you. Your friend, Nick, is a friend indeed.
