NEW YEAR'S GREETINGS

IMPRESSIVE PROGRAM RENDERED

A very beautiful and impressive Christmas program was given in chapel Friday morning before the patrons of the school and the student body. The pupils marched in quietly with a very reverent air. Upon entering they beheld a mass of evergreens back of which was the beautiful snow white mountains, with a stream running through the middle of them. On either side the scribes stood. A star in the east was shining brightly.

Very sweetly the invisible choir sang, "Silent Night, Holy Night." The stately scribes appeared telling the story of Christ. The vested choir marched in singing, "O' Come All Ye Faithful," after which they knelt in front of the platform. Six on either side. The three wise men beheld the star in the East and came to worship the Babe. They sang in unison the first verse of "We Three Kings of Orient Are." The first wise man sang the second verse offering his gold as a gift. The second one offering frankincense, while singing the third verse, and last of all the third offering his myrrh while he sang the fourth one. The distant choir and the vested choir joined in singing the last verse.

The Shepherds were in the field and an angel appeared telling them that Christ was born in Bethlehem. The Shepherds immediately went to Bethlehem finding Mary and the Babe and Joseph. They fell down and worshipped the wonderful Babe.

The Scribe said, "For God so loved the world that He gave his only Begotten Son, that whosoever believeth on Him, shall not perish but have everlasting life." The invisible choir then sang a most beautiful Christmas carol.

The other scribe then quoted, "Come Unto Me All Ye that are heavy laden and I will give you rest." The choir in the distance sang a most beautiful selection.

The Antiphonal choir then sang "Joy to the World."

Most impressive was the singing of the Amens and the chanting by the Antiphonal choirs.

ATHLETIC COUNCIL MEETS

The Athletic Council held its second important session Friday before the holidays and elected the basketball manager for the girls' team and the two assistant managers for the boys' banquet. Alice Elizabeth Freeze received the former honor while Richard Armfield and Fred DeLapp were chosen to act as assistants to John Wood who was elected manager at the last meeting. Miss Freeze was asked to find several candidates for assistant managers out of the junior class.

At the meeting Mr. White stressed the importance of leadership in the junior class and discussed the necessity of leaving the steering of the school's affairs into capable hands.

The Athletic Council met last week and after much discussion elected John Wood basketball manager for this year. An assistant will be elected from the junior class.

John came here four years ago from Thomasville and since then, he has become known to the school as a "live wire." John is very capable of holding the basketball manager-ship.

BUDDING FUTURES

"Tis true we are builders, but are we real architects? Do we carefully and diligently inspect the material which goes into the foundation? No true architect fails to see that this essential part is sound. Each day we lay a brick in the foundation. Have all of your bricks been true brick or has there been too much sand? Cement the bricks together with real school spirit. At the end of each year lay a corner stone. Make it strong, engraved with firm resolutions for the future. If you do not go to college your high school diploma is the last brick in your foundation. What kind of a structure could you build on your foundation? Would it support a skyscraper or a mere hovel? What do you want it to support? "Face life squarely."

—L. J. Shipman.

Season tickets for basket ball will soon be on sale. The old banners will have to be cleaned up again and say let's make it so close they'll have to buy a stop watch to decide who gets banner number one. Whatdyasay?

DEBATING PRELIMINARIES HELD

The juniors who tried out for the juniors-senior debate met Thursday, Dec. 18th. The juniors delivered their debates so smoothly that Mr. King stated that it was the best preliminary he had ever seen.

Henry Gurley, Garland McPherson, Lorraine Ellison, Rose Hyman, Elizabeth Brown, Olin Matthews and Tate Andrews were among those who tried for the finals.

The debates were very interesting and held the attention of the audience. After much deliberation the judges declared Henry Gurley and Garland McPherson winners.

The senior tryout was held the next day. Joe Smoak, Semmie Herman, and Toney Antonakos were the only debaters present. Toney agreed to act as a substitute as he had not prepared a definite speech. This left Joe Smoak and Semmie Herman as the Senior debaters.

All three of the boys from both classes are members of the Oratio club. This shows what kind of debaters the Oratio club can put out.

SENIOR CLASS MEETS

The senior class met Thursday morning in last meeting before Christmas holidays. The report of the financial success of the carnival was given by Ruth Clinard, class treasurer. She stated that after final reports from room treasurers were made, that the net amount would be over $300.

Mr. Owens and Miss Baker complimented the seniors on their fine cooperation toward their school work during those busy days preceding the carnival.

The class gave a rising vote of appreciation for articles lent to them. The secretary was asked to send a note to this effect to the respective lenders.

The meeting closed with some yells and a song.

A FRESHMAN'S DREAM

Forward, time, forward, oh time, in your flight, make me a professor. Just for tonight. Give me a large club to hold in my hand, and give me a room full of seniors to man.

Give me slug shots, fire crackers, and dope, put me at the head and hand me a rope. I'll make the seniors love freshmen or die. Corce will me boys and watch the fur fly!
