

POMONA WINS
FROM H. P. H. S.

Six to three was the way Pomona avenged their recent defeat at the hands of the Pointers Tuesday afternoon at Greensboro the Pointers dropped the contest.

"Lefty" Fuqua's pitching was smooth all except the second inning, when Pomona scored five runs, after which he settled down and gave up only one marker.

The greatest distance covered in base running was only as far as second, secured by Perdue.

The exhibition was a well played one, being more interesting than the score would indicate.

Score by innings:

	R.
High Point	100 001 1-3
Pomona	051 000 x-6

 Batteries: High Point, Fuqua and Foust; Pomona, Baxter and Bergman.

ALUMNI NEWS

Max Varner, former student of room 22, and son Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Varner of this city, is home on a twelve day leave of absence. He will return to Hampton Roads from there he will go to Los Angeles. After leaving there he will take a tour in which he will visit all the continents except Africa.

In a short time, only two months, since Max has enlisted he has been on a cruise to Liverpool, England, France, Spain and along the coast of South America.

Max hopes to enter Annapolis Naval Academy next year via the naog.

High Point High School has again been honored when an alumnus of this institution was elected to the presidency of the Men's Student Council of Guilford College, the highest position anyone can attain at that college. This person is Robert K. Marshall, son of Mrs. Richard K. Marshall, of this city.

Not only has he attained this high honor, but he was editor-in-chief of the Guilfordian, the college paper, and is now president of the Henry Clay Literary Society. He holds a position as private secretary to the president of the college.

Mr. Owens: What does this mean: "Ye stars! which are the poetry of heaven!"

Ward P.: "Well, you have to have meter in poetry and meters drop out of the sky."

ELM STREET NEWS

Wednesday morning the Elm Street student body had the pleasure of hearing a splendid talk by Rev. Chas. P. Coble, of the Presbyterian church. After reading the second chapter of Luke, Mr. Coble took as his subject, "The Greatest Boy That Ever Lived." He said: "We revere the name of Jesus, but we sometimes forget he was human. He was the most natural boy and man in the world. Jesus became the most influential, the biggest, the richest man the world ever knew. How did he do this? He increased in wisdom statue. Our boys and girls are not going to step accidentally into greatness—they will have to grow on all sides, not strong physically with small minds, or little shriveled souls. To be well rounded, one must attain physical, mental and moral growth, all three, and the greatest ambition we should have, 'the desire to be like Jesus.'"

IT REALLY WAS RAINING

Don J. Ward Packer and Monsieur George Ridge seem to be rushing the season. Friday afternoon soon after school was out, a number of students were standing on the porch of the Institution waiting for Lady Luck to turn off the rain which was coming down in sheets, when suddenly an uproar broke forth from the throats of the students. The object of their laugh was in the form of Senior Packer and Monsieur Ridge walking along the street under the shelter of two newly bought straw hats.

Neither Squire Packer nor Honorable Ridge seem to be a bit ruffled by the down pour of the rain. They later became aware of the fact it was raining and sought shelter under the roofs of the high school building.

THE STRAW HAT FAD

The boys of High Point high school have been rushing the season by buying straw hats from Bruce Caraway.

The boys for the last few days have been wearing ten cent straw hats. Many were sent sailing through the air by Sherill Snyder.

You could pass through the halls any time and see the crowns blown out by some boy's fist.

The girls could not stand to let the boys get ahead of them so they rushed to the dime store and purchased large straw hats and tied a piece of red ribbon under their chin to hold them on.

12 MEN TO GO TO THE HILL

High Point High's track team goes to Chapel Hill Thursday to compete in the annual state meet on the following day. All the schools of the state will be represented in the events.

The Pointers are sending 12 men to hear the Blue and White standard. Some nice work has been shown by the dozen men, and they hope to make High Point High School proud of them.

EXCHANGES

We have on our list the following exchanges:

Mt. Airy High Spots, Mt. Airy High School, Mt. Airy, N. C.—Your paper is good as a whole. The name is especially good. An exchange would improve your paper.

The Hillbilly, Asheville High School, Asheville, N. C.—Your Stories and jokes are good. You have a good all-around paper.

The Tri High, Leaksville High School, Leaksville, N. C.—The Parrot's Cage is good. The funny bone column desires special mention. The front page of your paper shows up good.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION DINNER

The H. P. H. S. Alumni Association has extended an invitation to all the members of the Senior class to be present at the High Point High School Association dinner given this year on April 14, 1925 at 6:30 in the Friends' Church Annex.

The price of a plate is seventy-five cents and the final report on the number who will attend must be turned in to the home room treasurers by Friday 10. Owing to limited resources and a bankrupt treasury the association is forced to make reservation only for those who pay the required amount when their names are turned in.

The Seniors should go out 100 per cent to this dinner, because they will be the future alumni of this school and should now show their colors.

BLUE TRIANGLES MEET

The Blue Triangle Club met Friday at the "Y" for the purpose of electing new officers. The officers elected for the coming year are:

- President—Ruth Russell.
- Vice President—Eleanor Cook.
- Treasurer—Mary Frances Kearns.
- Secretary—Minnie Herman.
- Pianist—Rebecca Jenkins.

Aline Kaneer reported that the Girl Reserve banner had been purchased. The banner is very attractive, having a blue background with white lettering. Across the top is "Senior Club," in the center is a G. R. triangle, and across the bottom is "High Point, N. C."

During the afternoon the members sang several Girl Reserve songs. Miss Harrell read a selection from the Bible, which was followed by sentence prayers. Rebecca Jenkins read a poem which was in touch with the lesson.

Next Friday will be a recognition meeting.

"How'd you get by in English without studying?"

"I worked a crossword puzzle my teacher couldn't figure out."

Swimming Instructor: Can you swim very well?

Freshman: No, sor; but I can sure wade.
