MONKEY GLANDS

Miss Brewer (in class): "Order."
Dewey B (just waking up): "Oh, just bring me ham and eggs."

Wilfred: A man broke his neck last night.
Ralp: Is he dead?

Ruth R. (at church) "Are we going to sing 'In the Garden,' tonight?"
Pauline H. "No, I think we'll sing in the church."

Waiter (serving Tom, who is taking a girl out to dinner for the first time): "Nectar?"
Tom: (blushing): "Not yet."

The freshman who says he goes to the library to study reminds us of the fellow who went to Vancouver to buy an overcoat. After he arrived at his destination he forgot what he went for.

Charles McManus (quoting one of debaters): "We get tobacco from Winston, cotton from Greensboro, and chairs from Thomasville, to keep us up."

Mixed Colors

She—"Can you tell me why a black cow gives white milk that makes yellow butter?"

He—"For the same reason that blackberries are red when they are green."—Pitt Panther.

Putting Him Right

The Entertainer—"If any lady or gentleman in the audience will call out the name of some female character in Shakespeare, I will endeavor to portray that character."

A Voice—"Florence Nightingale!"
The Entertainer—"I said Shakespeare, Sir, not Dickens."—The Humorist.

It does not pay to be facetious, or dangerously ironic with juries. A lawyer prosecuting an obviously guilty man, a burglar who had been caught red-handed on the roof of a house, wound up his speech to the jury as follows:

"If you consider, gentlemen, that the accused was on the roof for the purpose of enjoying the midnight breeze and by pure accident happened to have about him the necessary tools of a housebreaker, with no dishonest intention of employing them, you will, of course, acquit him."
And the jury did.—Exchange.
