BOYS RUN CITY

With the meeting called to order by the President of the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday morning, business as usual was discussed and disposed of by the directors.

The first business to come up before the board of directors was the buying of space in the Philadelphia North American. It met the approval of the board and was passed favorably.

The question of propaganda brought about by Eastern papers on Child Labor was heartily discussed by the board.

They finally decided on investigating child labor conditions in the factories and mills of our city and making a report to be published in the papers where the propaganda is being circulated.

The question of school bonds was brought up and favorably passed on. The board favored the voting of $750,000 by the people of High Point and discussed the matter of having the people of the city thoroughly understand the city bonds and county-wide school plan.

The question of raising $750.00 by the local Chamber of Commerce in helping to pay for the United States Chamber of Commerce's new building in Washington, D. C., was quickly disposed of when by a unanimous vote the board agreed to raise the required amount.

The board expressed themselves entirely favorable in the establishment of playgrounds and parks within the city, and help create a favorable interest among the people of the city.

The board decided to have a "Building and Loan drive made among the schools of the city system.

The Building and Loan is valuable and profitable to the people of the city and the board thought it wise to encourage saving among the younger people of High Point.

A motion was made and carried by the board to create a Junior Chamber of Commerce. The members of this organization will be chosen from the schools.

Perhaps no other business was discussed as fully and thoroughly as the coming school bond elections. "The people of our city must understand the value of having the city bonds of $750,000 voted on, and adopting the county wide school plan," were the words of Samuel Wynn, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

The city will aid greatly by having the county-wide school plan since all of the $750,000 voted will be able to be spent on a high school. If the county plan does not pass part of the $750,000 will have to be spent on schools already built and other necessary grammar schools having only about $500,000 for a high

MR. OWENS EDITS FORUM

The English Forum came out on the first of May with an article on "Oral composition thru debating," by M. L. Patrick. Mr. Patrick made a talk on this subject at the annual council of teachers at Duke University a short time ago.

Mr. Owens is the editor of this publication. He has successfully edited it for two years. This issue contains the readings of the council meeting of the teachers at Duke University. This publication contains very many viewpoints on English composition.

SENIORS SELECT PROJECT

The seniors will leave as their gift to the high school the sum of $500 which will be placed in the bank until a new high school has been built. This was decided on in the class meeting which the seniors held last Wednesday morning. It will be decided before graduation just how this money will be used.

The seniors are planning to get out a senior issue of the Pointer which will contain the history of the class, the prophecy, the statistics and other interesting facts concerning the class of 1925.

GLEE CLUBS TAKE SECOND PLACE

The High Point high school glee singers took second honors in the state-wide music contest for high school students in North Carolina at Greensboro, Friday, April 24.

Winston-Salem won first place and received a silver loving cup in both instrumental and vocal contests. The Twin-City made a total of 30 points. The local high school entered only in the vocal department and made a total of 26 points. This was the largest number of points made by any school in the vocal contest.

Winston-Salem won first place in the mixed chorus. High Point took second place.

Dorothy Hoskins and Saunders Dallas entered as soloists in Friday morning's contest. Dorothy Hoskins won second place, with Marguerite Sigmon, of Hickory, taking first. Sanders Dallas did not get first or second place.

The High Point girl's quartette won first place, their number was "Sing Me To Sleep." The quartette was composed of Dorothy Hoskins, Elizabeth Welch, Helen Reich and Margaret Gurley. High Point won second place in the boy's Glee Club.

More than a thousand contestants enrolled in the sixth annual music contest and was held by the North Carolina College for Women. It was the most successful ever held.

LETTERS ARE AWARDED

Baseball letters have been awarded by Coach Boylin to the members of the baseball team.

Coach Boylin in awarding these letters stated that it was rather unusual for only five players to receive letters but he thought that only these members of the team deserved letters. Good work was done with the substitutes though they did not earn letters.

Those receiving letters are: Irvin Ingram, letter and two stars. Fred Perdue, letter and one star. Ralph Foust, letter and one star. Robert Myers, letter. John Wood, manager letter.

bison was in charge of the preliminaries. Those taking part in the contest were Emmett McLarty, Robert Overmath, Minnie Herman, Alice Caldwell, Rebecca Jenkins, Nell Jones, Mary Agnes Ransom and Louise Ferber.

Emmett McLarty and Robert Overman were chosen from the sophomore class.
