Supt. Andrews Gives Facts About Schools

City System Has Enrollment of 7,203—Entire Faculty Numbers 223

There are some facts about our schools that are or should be of interest to the public, according to Mr. T. Wingate Andrews, superintendent of the city schools. Information, such as the value of the school property, the scholarship of the faculty members, and the expenditures on each of the schools, Mr. Andrews continued, in an interview with a representative from THE POINTER, is known by only a few.

The superintendent gave the following facts relating to the city schools:

In High Point there are twelve schools: seven white elementary schools, two colored elementary schools, one junior high school, one white high school, and one colored high school.

The enrollment shows that there are many boys and girls in High Point getting a fair education at least. The enrollment for November 1 was: white, 5,752; colored, 1,451; making a total of 7,203. The enrollment is increasing about 100 a month.

There are 223 teachers in the entire city system, 192 white, and 41 colored. The scholarship of the teachers is a matter of interest to the public, as the better the

15 NEW PUPILS ADDED TO H-S STUDENT BODY

Besides the 67 new students who enrolled in High Point high at the beginning of the term, 15 others have come in. Of this number, 4 are freshmen, 4 sophomores, 4 juniors, and 3 seniors.

Those entering the various classes are: Freshmen, Samuel Yarber, Maryville, Tenn.; Odessa Biles, Ellerbe, N. C.; Woodrow McLaughlin, Elkins, W. Va.; Ralph Garcia, Key West, Florida. Sophomores: Opal Marie Thorpe, Lewisville, N. C.; Irene Bridges, Greensboro, N. C.; Raymond Johnson, Albemarle, N. C.; Margaret Curry, Brown Summit, N. C. Juniors: Jessie Curry, Brown Summit, N. C.; Tom Templeton, Union Grove, N. C.; Mary Dean Rankin, Columbia, S. C.; Anna Lanier, Knoxville, Tenn. Seniors: Ruth Curry, Brown Summit, N. C.; Norwood Eve, Charleston, S. C.; Hazel Smathers, Winston-Salem, N. C.

Counting the 67 other new students, this makes a total of 82 new pupils who have come to High Point high school from all parts of the country.

Over Forty Dollars Given To Near East

The total amount of $44.58 was given by the high school students for the near east relief fund. The room contributing the largest amount to this cause was Miss Carrie Smith's freshman home room, which sent in ten dollars.

This money will be sent to aid boys and girls, of high school age, whose parents were killed by the Turks and whose homes were burned, leaving them homeless at an early age. The amount of fifteen cents will provide for one person for one day, according to the information on the backs of the envelopes. These envelopes were given out to the students on Friday and were returned the following Tuesday.

MUSIC CLUBS MAKE PUBLIC APPEARANCE

Glee Clubs and Boys' Trio Sing for Civic Organizations Friday

Representatives of the musical organizations of High Point high school have made public appearances in the city recently. Two of these were before civic organizations, while the other was a program presented before the student body.

On Monday, November 12, the boys' glee club sang at the assembly. Among the numbers they rendered were "Proudly as the Eagle," "Marrianna," and the "Street Urchins' Melody."

The band, the orchestra, and the girls' glee club will also appear before the assembly at different times in the near future. It is probable, Mr. Stookey said, that the freshman chorus which he is drilling intensively will also sing for the school.

The girls' glee club sang for the musical art club at the country club Friday evening, November 15. A trio of unchanged voices presented a program before the Kiwanis club at their weekly luncheon on the same day. The trio is composed of Billy Sicheloff, Burt Asbury, and Charles Tomlinson, all sophomores. The selections given were "The Bells of Saint Mary's," and "Old Black Joe."

All of the choruses and glee clubs are working on numbers which they will enter in the state music contest in Greensboro next spring. Although the names of these have not as yet been made public by Mr. Stookey they will be announced later.

WEATHER SIGNALS ARE STUDIED IN SCIENCE

Students of Miss Tucker's Class Make Flags Which Are Displayed on Bulletin Boards

In Miss Mabel Tucker's classes of general science, a study was made last week of weather forecasting and weather signals. The pupils learned that flags were used during the day and lanterns at night for giving various weather forecasts.

Reference work was done in the library in the World Almanac, World Book and Encyclopedias. Extra credit was given to students who made flags indicating weather signals.

Some of the flags made were: Black flags indicating change in temperature; blue flags forecasting rain or snow; white flags representing clear weather; white flags with black centers showing a cold wave; a half blue and white flag indicating local rain or snow; red pennants marking moderately strong winds; red pennants on flag poles with red flags under them and with black centers indicating storms; red flags with black centers and red pennants under them indicating violent storms; two flags with dark centers representing dangerous storms, as a hurricane. These flags were displayed on the bulletin board in Miss Tucker's home room for one week.

Oratio Club Launches Big Project For Year

COUNCIL COMMITTEES MEET WITH ADVISERS

Plans Are Discussed and Made for Projects to be Carried Out in the Immediate Future

The committees of the student council met Tuesday morning, November 13. The Lost and Found committee, the Supplies committee, and the Bulletin Board committee held their meetings in 107. Miss Meador presided over the meeting with the help of Genevieve Sheetz and Frank Sizemore who choose the Lost and Found committee and the Bulletin Board committee. Elizabeth Davis, who chose the Supplies Committee has moved from High Point. A student council member to fill her place has not yet been elected.

The House committee assembled in the auditorium with Wilma Welborn, student council member, presiding. The new members added to the committee are Anna Lanier, Burton Waggar, Mary P. Eve, Freida Rucker, and Robert Baird. Miss Janet Harris is the adviser of this committee.

The Corridor committee met in the balcony of the gymnasium. Robert Davis, chairman, read out the names and stations in the halls of each member. Mr. Johnston then talked to the students explaining the purpose of this committee. He discussed the necessity of having such a committee and asked for the cooperation of all the members.

The Grounds committee met in 103. Rip Tabb, who chose this committee, presided. The students decided to clean up the court back of the school at the earliest period convenient to all the members. Miss Shipman is the adviser of this committee.

Bisons Eliminated

In a meeting in Greensboro last Saturday night between the officials of High Point and Greensboro High Schools, High Point was eliminated from the State High School Football Championship. The arrangement as it stands eliminates High Point completely, unless Greensboro should finally win the state championship. In that case High Point and Greensboro would be matched for a final game to decide who should be state champions.

Members Will Meet Debating Teams from Other Schools In State; Principles of Speaking To Be Studied.

The Oratio Club, the oldest High Point high school organization, has launched the most extensive program the club ever has had.

The main event of the year for the club is the triangular debate with Greensboro and Winston-Salem to be held in March. Challenges will be sent out from this club to other schools to meet them in debate during the year.

High Point high school will also be represented in oratorical contests held in the colleges during the year. Affirmative and negative teams from Greensboro will be met on some timely question before the Christmas holidays. There will also be debates for freshmen only.

The members of the club will study the structure of famous speeches with a view to learn how to write or formulate speeches for different occasions. Much time will be put on articulation and enunciation. One of the first subjects to be

RARE BOOK EXHIBIT IS SHOWN IN LIBRARY

First Primer Used in North Carolina and Glascom's "Drawing-Room Pictorial" Are Among the Volumes Displayed.

An exhibit that will charm book-lovers is now in the exhibit case in the library. It is an unusual collection of old and rare manuscripts.

One book which will be especially interesting to the students of the school is the copy of the first primer used in North Carolina. This is a very small book containing the old-fashioned and characteristic alphabet and word symbols which were used always at that period in the history of education.

There is a very tiny and worn copy of Talbot's "Reflections," a time-honored volume of the by-gone day. Among the other books in the case is an old copy of a Flora Biography, a unique and interesting book on flowers. There are a number of other volumes al

BLACK BISONS BREAK EVEN WITH GREENSBORO

Bryant - Kearns Combination Scores For Locals—Linemen Offer Good Defense.

The Black Bisons tied the Greensboro eleven in the second game of the elimination series Friday afternoon 6 to 6. Bryant and Kearns were responsible for High Point's touchdown, Bryant making the score. Petree scored for Greensboro as the result of a fumble by High Point. Goodwin starred in the backfield for Greensboro. The work of Farlow, Hinkle, Bulla, and Hankins was outstanding.

The teams punted back and forth in the first quarter with Greensboro having a slight advantage due to a poor start by High Point.

High Point received the ball on half and made a fumble which gave Greensboro their score when Petree grabbed the ball to run across the goal line. The kick for extra point failed. High Point made a try for a score when Bryant by catching passes and bucking the line carried the ball forty yards down the field. However, the Bisons lost the ball on downs on the fifteen yard line.

In the second half High Point started another march down the field. Kearns went through left end for thirty yards, Bryant made ten more through right end only to have Greensboro end the attempt by intercepting a pass.

Towards the end of the game with steady gains from Bryant and Kearns, High Point carried the ball to Greensboro's goal line. Three times the Greensboro eleven halted High Point's attempts to score but

PROMINENT VISITORS IMPRESSED BY SCHOOL

High Point high school had the honor of visits from several prominent men in the state on Wednesday, November 14. These were Dr. J. Y. Joyner, Dr. A. B. Miller, and Rev. A. I. Justice.

Dr. Joyner is the former superintendent of public instruction of the state, and he was president of the Southern superintendents' association in 1909. When he was president he toured Massachusetts, visiting the schools there; but he said: "I didn't find any that surpassed this wonderful plant of yours." He said that he never dreamed of having the opportunity of visiting High Point high school and that he was delighted to be able to do so.

Dr. Miller, president of the Fruitland Institute, Hendersonville, N. C., was interested in every phase of the school work.

Rev. Justice, chairman of the board of trustees of the Fruitland Institute, marveled at the equipment of the school. He was much impressed with the landscape setting, and he remarked that the architectural structure was appropriately worked out.

Announcements

The Girls' Bible class and prayer-meeting meets every morning at 8:20 in room 205. The meetings are featured by Bible discussions, songs, and prayer. All girls are welcome. Everybody come!

Miss Foster wishes to announce that it was through the kindness of Moore's Book store that the high school library was so well supplied with new books each day during Book Week. Miss Moore sent down different books for each day during the week.
