The local sextet came back in the second half in a fighting spirit and this period was faster than the first. The entire game was slowed up considerably by frequent fouls and violations.

Fogleman was the shining star for Sylvan. Her accurate shooting proved a great asset in the High Point defeat. This forward made 14 of her team's points. R. S. EATON, RED CROSS REPRESENTATIVE, TALKS TO ASSEMBLY OF BOYS

Statistics has calculated that one hundred thousand people will die through accidents, most of them preventable. He then told several of the "pressure points" to compress in order to stop bleeding, such as the thigh, upper arm, temple, and throat.

"Some people think that the home is the place where you should be safest. On the contrary, thirty-three per cent of the fatal accidents happen in the home," Mr. Eaton informed the boys.

In conclusion, he explained the method of artificial respiration and told how valuable the knowledge may be to everyone. Mr. Eaton was assisted in the demonstration of first aid by Harvey Curlee.

BIG FISH—LITTLE FISH IN SCHOOL AQUARIUM

The next president of the United States will spend his vacation days in the High Point high school—fishing. That is, Mr. Sloan is making preparations now; and the kind of fish that he is rearing for the president to catch are gold fish, eighteen carat—if Mr. Sloan's fish tale can be believed.

Anyhow in the aquarium there are two gold fish, one about a foot long, and one less than a foot short. These were snatched heartlessly from their homes by Frank Steed, and deposited in the future president's fishing hole here in the high school. Besides these fish of color, there are eleven little gray fish called carp, which look a lot like catfish without horns. These, Buster Moffitt contributed.
