LOCAL GIRLS DEFEAT SALISBURY SEXTET FRIDAY NIGHT, 27-24

Hamil High Scorer for Locals; Foil Captures 11 Points for Visitors; McAnally and Armstrong Guard Well.

Last Friday night Miss Henderson's girls battled the Salisbury sextet in one of the best games seen here this season. The Salisbury girls suffered their second defeat of the year by losing a 27-24 game to the locals. The game was fast and well played from beginning to end. At no time did either team have a big lead. The first few points were made by High Pointers, but the visitors kept the score very close and at the half it stood 14-14.

The second half was another period of hard scrapping. Each team played its hardest for victory. Neither team obtained more than a 3-point lead at any time during the half. The locals were leading by this margin—27-24—when the final whistle blew.

The close guarding and accurate shooting of the locals spelled victory for High Point. Smith, McAnally, and Armstrong, each guarded so closely that it was 2 points well won when the Salisbury girls scored. All three forwards played a pretty game, while Hamil was outstanding with 15 points to her credit. Each member of the visiting team played a hard game and it was only by the locals playing at their best that they were able to capture the victory. Fail was high scorer for Salisbury, with 11 points.

MISS HENDERSON'S TEAM ENTERTAINS SALISBURY

The local girls basket ball team entertained the Salisbury girls in the home economics room last Friday night after the game. As Miss Henderson was Salisbury's coach for the past three years, it was a happy gathering when she met with her old friends Friday night. The visitors would not be detained long, so after chatting for a while, the local squad and the visiting team were served hot chocolate, sandwiches and cakes.

G. R. PROGRAM IS ABOUT THE NEGRO

A very interesting program on the negro was given, February 21, in this club. Dera Brown told something about negro folklore. Great negro poets were discussed by Gladys Culler. Miss Carrier told the club about a very prominent negro woman who is doing much to help the race question. Negro songs and spirituals, led by Margaret Neese, were sung by the club. The program was in charge of Genevieve Sheetz, social chairman.

LOCAL H. S. STUDENT IS A RADIO AMATUER

Albert Pruitt, Sophomore, Has Passed Government Tests for Station Operators.

To anyone who has gone through this experience I want to apologize if this seems too mild to express the feeling one has during his first transmission. I might add also that this is one of the greatest thrills of the game.

After having studied hard, lain awake at night, having eaten, drunk and done everything else with radio on the brain, I at last passed the government examination, and could now call myself a Radio Amateur—that wonderful name, and all the joys that go with it.

Some poet has said, "Anticipation is always sweeter than realization," but I am sure that I do not agree with him. Anyway, soon after having acquired my license, I took a trip over to radio station W4AHA at Anderson, S. C. Claude Prevost was the operator's name, and he gave me the privilege of operating the station that night. Well, I sat down, and tuned the receiver until presently I heard, through the barrage of static, the peep, peep note of W4PF whining away with a cq, signifying that he was open for communication. When he signed, I pulled the big switch that cut on the transmitter, and the two big tubes from behind the panel, while the needles of the meters, as they hovered nervously up and down the scales—not unlike a blind person's fingers moving over raised type—all went together to give me a nervous feeling at the beginning. I started calling W4PF. He is located at Hendersonville, N. C. I will not attempt to describe fully how I felt. Suffice it to say though, that I was jerky, and my hand would not form the well-known characters evenly in spite of all my attempts to try to send steady. I cannot explain why a person would be nervous except that he knows that every time he presses the key, the signal goes out to be picked up by any number of amateurs and government officials.

To get back to where I left off, W4PF answered me the first time. We talked together about ten minutes, telling each other about the weather, etc. I asked him to excuse my mistakes, as this was the first time I had operated a station. Since then it has always been my greatest pleasure to be around a station and pound the old brass a little. To end up, I want to say that I think an interest in radio work, is one of the best hobbies for a boy to have.
