HIGH POINT LASSIES LOSE TO SALISBURY IN BASEBALL, 11 TO 9

Visiting Girls Pile Up Lead Which Local Team Is Unable To Overcome By Fast Play.

The High Pointers bowed to the Salisbury lassies last Tuesday by a 11 to 9 score in a very interesting and exciting baseball game. The visitors completely outplayed the locals in the first three innings of the game, scoring five runs against one. The High Point girls started a rally in the fifth, but were unable to overcome the lead, rolled up by the Rowan County team earlier in the game.

The locals proved a smooth working team in the last three innings of the game, although during the first half, countless errors cost them enough runs for defeat. Fritz, Sprye, and Foxworth played especially well for High Point. Baker and Cornelson were the outstanding players for the visiting team.

Gray rendered in a delightful style popular songs. Jimmie Ellington and June Auman entertained with a clown dialogue and an Apache dance. Velve Hayden, in a very daring costume, did a Spanish dance. The Broadway strut was danced by Vesta Copeland, Marion Dixon, Margaret Hayden, Virginia

BASKETBALL TROPHIES AWARDED TO PLAYERS

Maud Hamil and Irene McAnally Are Selected As Best Forward and Best Guard on Squad.

Maude Hamil and Irene McAnally have been awarded the basketball trophies for the best all round forward and guard, respectively, on the 1929 basketball squad. These awards were made last Wednesday afternoon by Miss Grace Henderson, girls' coach, in the presence of the members of the team.

During the entire basketball season the players were observed closely in order to know to whom the prizes should be given. Maud Hamil, scoring 153 points, was considered the outstanding forward, while Irene besides being captain of the team, played consistently good ball as guard.

Ellison, Nancy Hill and Katherine Lowdermilk. Illustrating the dances of yesterday, a minuet was performed by Louise Kearns, Edgar Allen, Dot Willis, Wyatt Wall, Dot Kirkman, Bill Price, Dot Smith, Vernon Hoskins, Bessie Hedrick, Harry Williamson, Mildred von Drehle and Rip Tabb. In contrast with the dances of yesterday, Miss "Johnnie" Muse and Mr. Brooks Sloan did the tango skillfully and gracefully. In an exceptional performance Miss Hazel Shipman and Ed Yarbey did the modern "shag." One of the prettiest dances of the evening was done by Hudernia Hudson.

It was a toe dance, called "Valse Blue." The last number of the program was a duel between the juniors and the seniors. Frank Armfield as the junior "ran through" Robert Hubbard as the senior, while Fred Holcombe as Miss H.P.H.S. was getting the thrill of her life. Between the numbers of the program, a delicious menu, consisting of chicken salad, peas in timbals, potato chips, hot rolls, celery, pickles, strawberry shortcake, assorted nuts, and iced tea was served by sophomore girls dressed in red smocks with big white bow ties. The favors were little hats, a musical frying pan, and a tame snake.

Music was furnished throughout the evening by the A. and T. College Orchestra from Greensboro.

A reception committee greeted the guests at the door, and directed them to the receiving line composed of Edgar Allen, Raymond Ritchie, Sara Gilbert King, Mr. and Mrs. Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. Johnston, Miss Anne Albright, Miss Harris, Miss Foster, Rose Askew, Joe Vaughn, Jack White, Margaret York, Miss Beard David Parsons, Elizabeth Ragan, Jane Hess Weaver, Dot Rankin, Mr. and Mrs. Owens, Mr. Marshall, Mr. Patrick, Miss Barker, Miss Bulwinkle, Miss Lindsay, Mr. and Mrs. Guthrie, Mr. and Mrs. Habison, Miss Derrick, Miss Abernathy, Mr. and Mrs. Ring, Miss Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Tomlinson, Mr. and Mrs. Stookey, Miss Smith, Mr. Earl Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. Marlette, Miss Wilson, Miss Graham, Carl Connor, and Mrs. Johnnie Oakes Jackson.
 Edgar Allen, president of the junior class, extended thanks to all those who had helped toward making the reception an enjoyable affair.

TWO STUDENTS MEND MANY LIBRARY BOOKS

Howard Kelly and Billy Davis, Sophomore and Junior, Work Every Day At First Period in Library.

Billy Davis and Howard Kelly are the two students to whom the school is greatly indebted for mending and binding of many of the books in the library.

Billy is a junior, and Howard is a sophomore, and they both do their library work during the first period. Since the beginning of the year, these two students have mended and bound many hundreds of books. They do anything from mending books which are almost literally torn to shreds to those that have only a sheet or so torn, or one leaf missing. The boys also do the printing found on the backs of the library books. This library work requires much "stick-to-iveness," and each morning since school began in September has found both of these boys right on the spot to do whatever is required of them in the way of binding, mending or printing anything in the books.

Incidentally, both of these boys are Boy Scouts and are very active in their respective troops—Howard being a Silver Palm Scout.

AIRPLANE CONTEST IS TO BE HELD JUNE 20TH

Many Amateur Plane Builders Will Meet to Have Contesting Models Judged; Will be Second National Meet.

More than 300 model airplane builders from every corner of the United States, will unpack their carrying cases in Detroit on June 20th, and take out their models for the second national meet to be held for the National Aeronautic Association by the American Boy Magazine.

Three trips to Europe, $5,000 in cash prizes, six huge cups, 198 gold, silver and bronze medals, and dozens of special prizes—these are the rewards that are awaiting many of the 300,000 members of the Airplane Model League of America now busy carving propellers, shaping wings, and testing rubber motors. Manual training teachers all over the country are writing in to league headquarters, American Boy Building, Second and Lafayette Boulevards, Detroit, Michigan, and are receiving model airplane information and instruction for their enthusiastic pupils.

When the last plane has spiraled to earth on June 22, and the judges have measured every strut and wing spar of the scale models, three boys will wire home that they won't be back for another month, and that during that month they will be seeing London, Paris and a thousand other places just as intriguing and full of adventure, as the guests of the American Boy and Aero Digest magazines.

Entrants in the scale model contest do not have to come to Detroit—they can compete by mail. Contestants in other events, however, are looking forward to the three days of the tournament, for they will be crammed so full of fun and instruction, that they'll splash over on both sides. Thousands of propellers are already whirring and spinning in preparation for the meet, and model plane builders from Miami to Seattle are experimenting, changing, observing their planes to develop models that will virtually carry them to Detroit—possibly to Europe!

CLASS DAY OFFICERS CHOSEN BY SENIORS

 different from those of preceding years. It will be a playlet called "The Set of the Sail."

Mr. Stookey told the members of the class something about the senior play, "Oh, Kay," which will be presented on May 10. He helped to arouse interest in the selling of the tickets. The cast of the play was introduced to the class.

The last item to be discussed by the class was the gift which will be left this year. No definite action was taken as there was much opposition to leaving a fund. Mr. Johnston, had in a previous meeting, suggested that the class leave a fund to help meet some of the expenses of the school made by the different organizations. Several members of the class expressed their opinions—either for or against the fund. At last it was decided that the president should appoint a committee to suggest a suitable gift for the class of '29 to leave behind.

A credulous man is a deceiver.
