

LIFE ADJUSTMENT CONFERENCE PLANNED

REPRESENTATIVES THIRTY-FIVE COLLEGES
PLAN TO ATTEND HIGH SCHOOL COLLEGE DAYCollege Day Becoming Annual Event In High Point
Schools.

High Point high school College day will draw approximately thirty-five representatives from state and out of state institutions on Wednesday, April 12.

College day, founded last year, proved to be very successful. Much interest in the various institutions was shown by students, and parents gave it their highest approval. Thirty colleges were represented last year.

The purpose of this program is that of enabling the students and parents to learn about matriculation details at various institutions.

This year not only seniors but juniors and sophomores will be able to participate in the College Day exercises. Principal D. P. Whitely stated: "It is just as important for sophomores and juniors to interview representatives of colleges planning to attend College Day as it is for seniors. Underclassmen should

Credit Offered
Music Pupils

Music may now be elected toward graduation in any curriculum and will be given credit comparable to that given other elective subjects with equal time requirements.

Colleges have been accepting music as an entrance credit, but it was dropped from the curriculum in High Point in 1933. Last year it was reinstated in the curriculum under the direction of Carl G. N. Cronstedt. Mr. Cronstedt has reported that there has been an increase of fifty-three per cent over last year of students taking instrumental music.

Journalism is another elective subject for which credit is being given. Students in this class study paper makeup and also gain experience in this field by working on the school paper.

The organization of this class makes possible the publication of

MRS. T. A. TILDEN IS PRESIDENT

Parents' Council Organization
Will Meet In Cafeteria TodayParent Representatives From Each Home Room
Cooperate

Mrs. T. A. Tilden, president of the Parents' Council of the Senior High School announced that there will be a meeting of that organization this afternoon at 1 o'clock in the Cafeteria.

The Council is composed of one parent representative from each homeroom. It was organized early in November. The council has been working in cooperation with the school in the interests of a better understanding between school and the home and in civic matters pertaining to the school.

At Christmas the members of this organization filled twenty-one boxes for families not quite so fortunate. Since that time

Juniors To Be Inducted Into
Honor Society

The Honor Society will take into its membership Juniors for the first time in the year 1938-39 on April 21.

At a meeting of the society in the Auditorium, the impressive ceremony, conducted twice each year, will take place. A small group of outstanding juniors and additional seniors will be tapped by old members. These juniors will be expected to lead the work of the Honor Society next year.

Officers for this year are: president, Darrell Sechrest; secretary, Mary Holton, and treasurer, Eloise Rankin. Faculty adviser is Mrs. Leila Bell Rogers.

Officers and advisors of the club wish it announced that an article, concerning the special service

HIGH SCHOOL BUYS
NEW LIBRARY BOOKS

New books amounting in cost to approximately $400 have been ordered by the High School library. Librarians say the books will be ready for use in three or four weeks.

This order of books covering almost every field, contains additional copies of popular books and many replacements of books that have been worn out from long usage or that have been torn up by careless users.

A plea goes out from the librarians to the students to be more careful when using materials in the library.

Miss Gertrude Capel, librarian, said, "The inexcusable treatment which the books have received made it necessary to take a large part of the money, otherwise to be used for the enlargement of the library, and spend it for the up keep of the present supply of books."

Last year, almost as much money was spent for up keep as for new books, it was disclosed.

Reward Is Offered

A free year's subscription will be awarded to any person who can supply the Pointer with a complete file of the 1937-1938 editions.

The Pointer announces today that on receipt of all issues published in the 1937-1938 school year, a free year's subscription will be given. It was further stated that if the donor already possesses a paid-up subscription his money will be refunded.

The Pointer is anxious to obtain missing copies for its files and co-operation of students in this matter will be appreciated.

Business Courses
Have Wide Interest
For Many StudentsEnrollment Approximate Half
Student Body In Classes

A total of 525 students are now taking part in High Point high school's extensive business education program.

Termed a distinct success by Miss Emily Gentry, department head, the business courses have been in full swing throughout the present school year. Introduced in 1938, due largely to vigorous work on the part of the Pointer, the courses have swiftly become popular. The students immediately adopted them and hundreds registered in the spring of 1938, eager to participate in business training.

Last fall Business Education was officially inaugurated as a regular part of the high school

BETA CLUB TO
LIGHT COMEDY

"And the Villain Still Pursued Her," a one-act comedy under the sponsorship of the Beta club, will be presented in the auditorium about the middle of March.

The play, an old fashioned melodrama, will mark the beginning of numerous outstanding Beta club activities.

Since copies of the play have not as yet arrived, neither the cast nor the time of presentation have been chosen. A small admission will be charged.

In order that no time should be lost between the different activities, the Beta club has agreed to the appointment of a committee of Amy Lou Holmes, Jean Davis, and James Wilson to formulate plans for a forthcoming social to be held shortly after the presentation of the play.

In addition to home activities, the club plans to attend the Beta club State Convention, and will probably send three or four delegates to the Virginia State Convention to be held in Roanoke, Va., on March 21 through April 1.

Debate Teams
Selected For Annual Meets

High Point, Greensboro, and Winston-Salem high school debating teams will compete in the annual triangular debate on March 31.

According to custom, the negative team will visit the other schools. The High Point negative team will visit Greensboro; the Greensboro negative team, Winston-Salem; and the Winston-Salem negative team will come to High Point.

Coach John Hodges announced that the negative team is to be composed of Darrell Secherst and Bill Currie and that the affirmative is to be made up of Kermit Albertson and George Humphreys. Alternates for the two teams are Frances Hamilton, negative, and Ruth Koontz, affirmative.

The debating team will have practice debates with nearby schools for sometime before the Triangular debates start.

COLLEGES WILL SOON
AWARD SCHOLARSHIPS

Scholarships to various universities and colleges are awarded each year to seniors who have attained high scholastic records, and to winners in competitive contests and examinations.

High Point College each year offers two scholarships, $50 each for four years, to one boy and to one girl attaining the highest scholastic record during school at High Point high school. Guilford College offers one scholarship, $100 for one year only, to the next highest, girl or boy, average. Meredith College, $100 for one year only, to the girl attaining the next highest average among the girls.

Those receiving scholarships during the last four years are: To High Point: Allen Thacker and Sophia Taplin, in 1935; Joe Gray and Mildred Free, in 1936; John Kinney and Eleanor Welch, in 1937; Winifred Lamar and Irene Parker, in 1938; to Guil-

Meet Full Day
In Early Spring

Speakers Are Not Yet Chosen For Conference To Be Held Here.

Tentative plans for a Life Adjustment Conference, to be held at High Point high school in the latter part of March or early in April, have been announced.

The conference, which will include one entire day of activities, will be set going by a keynote speech in the auditorium.

Speakers for the conference have not been chosen as yet.

After the keynote speech, panel groups will convene in various rooms. A questionnaire will be sent to the students before the conference. This questionnaire will determine to which panel discussion group the individual student will be assigned. The topics for discussion will be related to vocational guidance, character, citizenship, and personality.

The speakers for these groups are to be, for the most part, local people of prominence.

After panel discussions the students will meet in their homerooms. Representatives from the

Organizations
Enter Contest

The band, orchestra, and glee club will enter the State Music Contest in Greensboro the week of April 18.

The glee club has been divided into two groups which will be combined for the music contest. A girls' glee club which has recently been organized, will also be entered.

Try-outs will be held here shortly before the contest to determine the soloists from the glee club. Those who will compete in this are: Virginia Butner, Shirley Welborn, Annie Louise Brown, Ella Lou Taylor, Laverne Hartgrove, and Bob Andrews.

A string quartet and a flute quartet composed of members of both the Jr. and Senior high school orchestras will enter. Clarence Leonard will be the only soloist

In History of the

Little Miss Betty Jo Hedrick, born April 5, 1930, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Hedrick, has shouted and jumped her way to fame on the hardwood as Mascot to the Cheerleaders.

This is the first time in the history of the school, so far as the POINTER can ascertain, that the Cheerleaders have had a Mascot.

She is an Honor Roll student of the third grade at Elm Street School and is a Representative to the Elm Street Student Council.

Her leisure time is filled with
