

Student Government Plan Before Council

Bison Victory Would Tie Conference

Western Conference Hopes Of Bison Hang On Tonight's Battle

Victory tonight will throw High Point into a deadlock with Greensboro for the Western Conference championship.

The standing at the present is, first, Greensboro, who has finished their season with three wins and one tie. High Point is second with two wins and one tie and one conference game to play.

A win over Winston-Salem would throw High Point in a tie with Greensboro. In case of a tie, the secretary of the North Carolina Association of Athletic Councils will arrange for a drawing to be held between representatives of the two teams. The team which is winner in the drawing will accept the schedule and play the Eastern champion.

In case the team which was lucky drawer should win in the regular state final game, that team would come back and play off the tie.

In the event that the team which was lucky drawer in the Western Conference should lose in the contest, then both teams which participate in the drawing would be out of the contest.

If the Bison lose tonight, then Greensboro is the Western Conference champion.

JUNIOR CLASS VIEWS AIRED BY PRESIDENT ON COUNCIL PURPOSE

George Humphreys, president of the Junior Class, clearly outlined his views on the question of purposes of the present student council, recently reviewed in the Pointer.

Humphreys, an advocator of the new student government plan, disagreed with the purposes of the student council as set forth by Miss Louise Hunter, the council's faculty advisor.

He said in a written statement: "In regard to the most recent issue of the Pointer, I was somewhat surprised to find that the students did not elect a council for the purpose of representing the students' views. In student council elections, I do not vote for a person so that he or she may get a leadership or training course. I have conceded that such training would come as a natural step. I, and every other student with whom I am acquainted, vote for student council representatives in regard to their ability to represent their class. I lament the fact that student opinions (Continued on page 4)

Aside from drawing up plans for the dance, the main topic of discussion in the Student Council is the ratification of the Student Government Plan presented to it by the students of High Point High School. The plan, after being read by the president Wednesday, is being thoroughly discussed by the Council.

The proponents of the bill, in the Council, expressed, optimistically, that the bill would have every chance to pass and succeed. The Council has been ironing out and discussing the "flaws" contained in the Constitution backing the new plan of government.

Cecil Prince, president of the Council has stated that the bill will remain in the hands of the Council, due to the intensity of the search for "flaws" in the constitution.
