

Girl Reserves Plan Christmas Activities

The high school Girl Reserve Clubs are planning to celebrate Christmas in several different ways.

The name of a family in need of help was secured from the welfare office. Each club in the city has taken one member of the family to provide gifts for. The high school clubs have selected the three girls nearest the club members' ages.

The clubs from the high school will meet at the "Y" Sunday, December 17, for carol singing. The girls will practice some carols, and then leave by cars for the two hospitals in the city, the Methodist orphanage, and Guilford sanatorium. Carols will be sung at each stop and a wreath will be paced on the doors of these buildings.

Holiday dances and parties are being planned by all the clubs.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

ALUMNI NOTES

John Gurney Briggs, of the class of 1932, was an honor student of the Curtis Institute of Music at Philadelphia. He is now working for the National Broadcasting company in New York.

Charles Idol, of the class of 1937, is a junior at the University of North Carolina. Clarence Idol of the class of '38, is a sophomore at Carolina. Charles is a member of the football squad, and Clarence is a member of the wrestling team.

George Marsh, class of '38, is a sophomore at Davidson College. He plays guard on the football squad.

Marjorie Barker, graduate of 1938, is the wife of Dick Meisky, a junior at Presbyterian College. Dick is the starting quarterback on the football team.

MERRY CHRISTMAS Maps Purchased

Approximately 50 new maps and a globe showing the physical features and political outlines of various countries were issued to the social science department last week.

These maps are to be used in World history, United States history and civic sociology. There are two black-board maps of the world and United States. Two maps of the British Isles were turned over to the English Department.

The maps were purchased by the City School System. They are the first of their kind in the school since the first years. The teachers are very delighted with the maps and hope that with these maps the work in social science will be improved.

MERRY CHRISTMAS Inspiration

You asked me to write a poem,
Now what am I to say?
Shall it be romance? Music? The Weather?
On a beautiful night in May,
With a boy and a girl on a park bench?
Why, no! Say, that's old stuff!
You wouldn't like my politics,
But I could put on bluff!

How I pity poor Longfellow!
And Wordsworth, Browning, and Poe
Spent lifetimes worrying 'bout poems—
I guess they liked it, though.
But let's see, now—where was I?
A poem? a subject?—oh, yes!
Oh, foey! Miss Goodman take this one!
It might pass—I hope—I guess!

DRAMATIC CLUB GIVES "LITTLE BLACK LAMB"

Several members of the dramatic club presented a play, "The Little Black Lamb," for the Business and Professional Women's Club Birthday Banquet held at the Elwood Hotel on December 6.

The play, a comedy in one act, depicts a married couple who, in order to get a rich aunt's money, must have some children. They really have no children, but due to an unexpected telegram stating that the aunt is coming to visit them, the wife immediately calls all her neighbors and asks them to lend her their children for the day. Every thing is going fine until in walks a little black lamb, a negro girl. The aunt immediately flees from the room, and the family still has no money.

MERRY CHRISTMAS Blackard Addresses

Dr. E. H. Blackard, pastor of the Methodist Protestant Church, spoke to the sophomore class at their regular meeting on Tuesday morning. His discussion of "The Origins and Meanings of Our Christmas Symbols and Customs" was received enthusiastically by the members of the class. Bill Perry conducted the devotions, and Bobby Gayle played a piano solo.

Billy Peake, vice-president presided over the business session which preceded the program. The class voted to sponsor a movie soon after Christmas. Anna Lou Doctor, chairman of the finance committee, working with the sophomore council, will make arrangements for this presentation.
