

High School Register Honors Sixteen Pupils

CAROLINE ARDEN CHOSEN TO REPRESENT SCHOOL

Caroline Arden will represent this school as a candidate to appear on the radio program of "America's Junior Town Meeting of the Air," on a nation-wide hookup, March 20, 1947.

The question to be discussed this year by high school pupils is: "Should public schools educate for marriage and family relations?" Each student entering the contest submitted a speech of not more than 600 words.

Editors to Select Best Papers

The speech adjudged the best has been sent to the editor of Our Times. The editors of the paper will select the 24 most promising students as semifinalists.

Each semifinalist will be notified to appear at a nearby American Broadcasting Company studio for a voice test. The manager of the station will interview the candidate and add his judgment as to the speaking ability of the proposed candidate.

Town Hall to Choose Finalists

The speeches, teacher's nominations and recommendations, photographs, records of voice tests, and opinions of station managers will in turn be sent to Town Hall. Using all this information, the staff at Town Hall will select the eight finalists, one of whom will be from Washington, the host city.

The seven finalists from other sections of the country will travel to the capital city during the week of the broadcast as the guests of Our Times. They will meet Mr. George Denny, moderator, and his staff. Four of the finalists will then be selected to be the speakers on "America's Junior Town Meeting of the Air."

OVER 200 NEW BOOKS ACQUIRED BY LIBRARY

Over two hundred new books are to be placed on the shelves of the high school library shortly, and the display case will feature projects from the various departments. This week book jackets designed and made by members of Miss Young's English classes are attracting favorable attention.

Mrs. Nancy K. Poston, librarian, believing that the library should be a place for intelligent work and study, is putting into operation a new plan. In order to carry this out, the library will be closed to the general public each Wednesday, but various class groups will work there under supervision. Arrangements to do this will necessarily have to be made in advance.

FORENSIC LEAGUE TO ENTER DEBATE

Members of the Forensic League, after a successful membership campaign, are now making plans to participate in the annual triangular debate to be held this spring. The query for this year will be: "Resolved: That the Federal government should provide a system of complete medical care available to all citizens at public expense."

The new members for the League have been recruited mainly from the sophomore and freshman classes. They include the following: Ralph Albert, David Blair, Paul Conrad, Rebecca Dickens, Florine Fine, Clyde Garrison, Ray Hayworth, Betty Jo Hedrick, Barbara Lowe, Pat Myers, Carolyn Morris, Betty Jean Pegram, Harry Samet, Henry Shavitz, Tony Teachey, and Jean Walton.

Pointer Staff Secured Statement From Stassen After Broadcast

It's a known fact that newspaper reporters in interviewing famous people often try to extract coveted "statements" for their own publications. The Pointer lately had such aspirations at the time that Mr. George Denny brought his famous "Town Meeting" to this city.

In anticipation of possible interviews, the staff tried to think up questions which they hoped would sound intelligent. Plans included all four speakers, if possible, but Mr. Harold Stassen, candidate for the Republican nomination, in particular.

When the night arrived, two official-looking Pointer reporters were at the high school promptly at 6:45. At last after a wearisome wait of over thirty minutes, the young journalists were shoved by the mass of people into a couple of good seats, but they looked with envy towards the desks facing the speakers' stand, reserved exclusively for the Press.

Following the program, the reporters made a mad rush for the stage to see the celebrities before they made their exit. Eyeing Mr. Stassen, who was surrounded by a group of dignitaries, the Pointer representatives edged their way through the political "high-brows," took their places beside a couple of senators, and introduced themselves to the beaming ex-governor.

Before he was pulled away by his colleagues, the triumphant young reporters secured the following statement: "I like your city and town very much, and I was delighted to see so many young people at the broadcast tonight."

lar. Their combined objective is to have the yearbook published before the close of this school year.

Although the work is still ahead of schedule and most of the photography has been completed, it will probably be necessary to omit some of the activities of the last part of the year. The theme of this year's annual will center around the ideals of High Point as an industrial city.
