State High School Library Clubs Hold Convention At HPHS

Over 200 delegates from about 75 clubs attended the annual convention of the North Carolina High School Library Association held in High Point High last week-

Members arriving before 12 noon were invited to eat lunch in the school cafeteria. Following the registration, which began at 10 o'clock Friday morning, a two-hour session was held in the auditorium. The speaker at this session was Mrs. E. H. Ould, eminent speaker and advisor for young people.

Friday evening a banquet and dance were held at the Sheraton Hotel, with music furnished by Ray Marshall and his orchestra from Winston-Salem. Entertainment was provided by the Racket-cers, Frances Irwin, Judy Callahan, and Polly Yow. Bill Bailey acted as master of ceremonies.

At the second session on Satur-day morning state officers were

Students Register For Coming Year

Students from Junior, Sophomore, and Freshman classes were permitted to register for their prospective courses here March

Each class assembled in the auditorium on days preceding registration for instruction from Principal D. P. Whitley. Mr. Whitley advised those planning to go to college to pursue those required subjects for college entrance, including modern languages.

Results of the registration show that the number registered for both French I, and solid geometry and trigonometry has doubled since last year. It was also dis-covered that typing is the most popular non-academic course.

There were 100 students signing up for D. E. or D. O.

It is estimated that next year the enrollment of the high school will increase from approximately 1300 to 1450

Students undecided about their courses will be given another chance to register at the end of the school year.

7 HPHS Students Visit Nurses' Home

Mrs. Carl Messerschmidt, R. N., acting for the Woman's Auxiliary of the Guilford County Medical Society, last Wednesday afternoon took seven girls who are interested in the nursing profession to the Nurses' Home. There the girls talked to Miss Ruth Williard, R. N., nursing arts instructor and student advisor, about the possi-student advisor, about the possibilities of a nursing career.

Christine Andrews, Dorothy Snyder, Shirley Yokley, Sylvia Lester, Carolyn Roberts, Margie McDowell, and Doris Ann Honeycutt are the girls who went to the Nurses' Home. All seven girls have filled out application blanks to go into nurses' training after graduation.

The first was presented to the club "doing the most outstanding work during the year." The other award was based on the aid given by the club to foreign countries.

L. G. Wilson Travels With Davidson Band

L. G. Wilson, a Junior in homeroom 312 has recently returned from a tour to Florida with the Davidson College Band.

L. G. went to Davidson College in February to participate in a band contest. He earned a super-ior rating with his French horn. Later, he received a letter from the college inviting him to travel with the college band to Florida.

He left with the band on March 28 for a 6-day tour of Florida. While there they went as far south as Palm Beach. The band gave concerts to various schools and Another member of the band is Stuart Fountain, High Point High School graduate of '53.

Talent Show Nets Over $700 Profit

The 1954 Talent Show, under the sponsorship of the Student Council, took in over 8700 in three performances.

The money which was taken in will be used for the purpose of sending delegates to a convention of the Southern Association of Student Councils next year and to send one delegate to the National Association of Student Councils.

Those in charge of the show this year were Dean Mac Pruette, director; Bill Bailey, assistant director; Betsy Lewis, script writer; and Jimmy Casey, master of ceremonics.

The acts included everything from song and dance routines to magic, and there was also a 26voice chorus.

Greensboro, Winston Take Debate Honors

Highest honors in the triang-ular debates, in which High Point High School took part, were cap-tured by the Winston-Salem and Greensboro teams.

On March 26, when the rival teams met, Winston-Salem won two victories and Greensboro, one. This forty-second debate of the high school debating union was the culmination of much hard work exploring the query, Resolved: That the President of the United States should be elected by the direct vote of the people.

Margaret Locke and Linda Groome debated on the affirmative side against Winston-Salem in Greensboro. Betsy Lewis and Peggy Kepley took the negative against Greensboro in Winston. Anita Eagle and Bonnie Tilly were alternates; Miss Hatch and My Ousley accompanied the de-Mr. Ousley accompanied the de-elimination contests were being held simultaneously all over the state. As result of winning in the triangle, Winston's two teams and Greensboro's affirmative team participated in the district contest last Thursday.

Each debater presented a 12minute speech and a four-minute rebuttal.

WHPS Broadcasts Under Difficulties

Due to technical difficulties, WHPS-FM is, at present, able to broadcast only transcribed pro-

FHA Hears Dr. William Martin At Raleigh Annual Convention

"Next to group singing and family prayer, storytelling is the greatest common denominator of personality. My hope and purpose is that through storytelling, families will be united in a group activity which fosters tolerance and intimate understanding."

This was a comment made by Dr. William Martin, the "Winston Storyteller," who was the speaker at the annual state convention of

Mr. Whitley Speaks To Future Teachers

D. P. Whitley, at a recent meeting of the Future Teachers of America, talked to the members about the future of the teaching profession.

Mr. Whitley stressed the influence teachers have on society by mentioning the play "The King and I," in which one teacher who was sent to Siam to educate the King's children changed the form of government to that of a democracy.

He discussed the many oppor-tunities that teaching offers, not only teaching in grades one through 12, but also teaching in special fields in all grades. Some of the special fields discussed were music, library science, corrective reading, art, and handicapped child-

Mr. Whitley said that by 1961 America will need 40% more teachers than she has now. He emphasized the fact that the students of today will be filling the teaching positions of that day.
