The man who has to pay Christmas bills knows there's at least one time of year when a woman doesn't spend more time than she does money in the stores.

Rainy Sundays every now and then are good things. They save a lot of gasoline, profanity and accidents.

"The tough part of the Vore case," says one "is that when he was denied his seat in the senate he didn't get back any part of the $780,000 he spent in being elected."

Being far behind with his own worries, L. H. Hill says he is not going to let the new $100 counterfeit bills worry him any.

An item in an exchange says buttons were once a luxury. And now they are considered just a plain nuisance.

"Among other things a young man doesn't learn until after the honeymoon is over," asserts one "is that he did all his talking during the courtship."

London is trying out rubber pavements. Maybe they want to make it easier for pedestrians after they've been hit by a machine.

The chief difference between the stock market and a poker game is that in poker you can see your cards.

Scientists now declare man is 1,000,000 years old, and there are a lot of times when some of us feel like it.

Some Selma men seem to think there is no finer way for a woman to spend her life than devoting it to keeping a husband well fed and well taken care of.

After all, $10 an hour isn't expensive for bridge game lessons when we consider what some fellows have paid to learn to play poker.

If you want to try something hard, try to make the average Selma boy understand that when a girl says "Yes" to his marriage proposal it only gives her a chance to say "No" the balance of her life.

A Hiawatha, Kans., flapper hands out this advice to her sisters who are undecided about wearing long skirts: "Let your chassis be your guide."

The packing house industry is still the biggest in the U. S. It seems to have no difficulty in making both ends meet.

You'd very seldom read in the papers of a divorce if it was as easy to stay in love as it is to stay in debt.

According to fashion rumors, we are heading back to the time when what a girl wore underneath was nobody's business.

Our idea of a spunky woman is the Selma wife who can tell her husband where to find the needle and thread when there's a button off of his shirt.

The old-fashioned worry was how to keep the women of the family in clothes. So is the new-fashioned one.

Secretary Davis says the wives of working men are the greatest managers in the world. They have to be.

Between the movie show and the radio the supper dishes lead a wild life in a good many homes these days.

D. T. Taylor Dies In Cleveland Township

Was Prominent Farmer and Leading Citizen of Johnston County For Over Half a Century

Mr. Dickerson T. Taylor died at his home in Cleveland Township last Friday and was buried in the family burying ground near his home on Saturday afternoon following the funeral services which were held at Mount Zion Methodist church near his home and of which he was one of the leading members for a long time, not only in the church work but in the Sunday School.
Mr. Taylor came to this state from Virginia when a young man and came in possession of the farm formerly owned by Dr. John Leach. He was a good farmer and stayed at home and looked after his own affairs as closely as any man to be found. For honesty and truthfulness, it is doubtful if any citizen in the county was his superior. He was a good citizen and a splendid neighbor in his community. He was about 87 years old when death claimed him last week, and thus the county and state is minus one of its oldest and best citizens.

Mothers Club Meets

The Mothers' Club met with Mrs. J. T. Hughes on Tuesday evening at her home on Noble Street. The subject for study was The Girl in Business. As Markham writes it, "Once I found myself alone, out in the void of a great city, filled with tremblings and a cry of many fears."
Mrs. Charles Fulghum read a paper on, How We Can Preserve Our Girls from the Lure of the Big City. A paper on the girl in business and professional life was read by Mrs. M. E. Lynch and a paper on the Specialized Girls' Club and its possibilities for social development was read by Mrs. George Norwood.
Mrs. G. M. Willets was welcomed as a new member. Guests of the club were: Mesdames J. M. Oneal and J. W. Craine. The hostess served a plate luncheon.

LITTLE LAVERN DRIVER IMPROVING AT HOSPITAL

Little Lavern Driver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Driver, who was operated on at Rex hospital last week, is improving. She is expected home this week.

AT THE SELMA PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

There will be preaching services Sunday at 11 o'clock. Visitors are most cordially invited. Remember Sunday School at the usual hour.

"I WILL ALWAYS PRAISE SARGON"

"Sargon certainly brought happiness into my home and I will never cease praising it.
"I suffered terribly for four years with stomach trouble. My appetite was poor, my food didn't digest right, I was dreadfully nervous and was continually taking laxatives. Four bottles of Sargon gave me a splendid appetite, my digestion is perfect and my stomach trouble is over. My nerves don't bother me like they did, I sleep fine and can't remember when I've felt stronger or more energetic! Sargon Pills completely overcame my constipation and biliousness! My eight year old daughter and my husband both took the treatment, they are wonderfully improved, stronger and better in every way!"—Mrs. J. F. Phillips, 107 Peachtree St., N. FOOD CROPS NEGLECTED; MONEY CROPS GROWN

MRS. J. F. PHILLIPS

Money crops—whose value is governed by conditions over which producers have little control—rule supreme on North Carolina farms, while the staple foodstuff and feedstuff products are neglected to such an extent that in 1925 North Carolina fell $153,000,000 short of producing in sufficient quantities these crops, the full production of which would have put the State on a "Live At Home" basis, and have made the farmers independent of the fluctuating prices of cotton and tobacco.
This is one of the important findings of a comparative survey made

THE SOWS AND PIGS REQUIRE

Bred sows and pigs need a calcium and phosphorus in their ration. Any combination of minerals which contains sufficient lime and phosphoric acid and is palatable enough to be eaten freely will be satisfactory. The following mixture, which is recommended by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, is palatable, contains the elements for supplementing the grain feeds, and may be fed to hogs on pasture or in dry lot: 50 pounds steamed bone meal, 25 pounds ground limestone or air-slacked lime, 25 pounds 16 percent acid phosphate, and 5 pounds common salt. If wood ashes are available, they may be added to the mineral mixture with advantage, at the rate of one-third of the mixture by weight. The mineral mixture should be kept where it will be dry and available at all times.
