Treasury Seeks Agents

The Bureau of Internal Revenue needs approximately 5,000 revenue agents and special investigators, and hopes to obtain many in this area. Pleas M. Sawyer, Revenue Agent in Charge, Guilford Building, Greensboro, North Carolina, announced today.

This drive is being conducted in cooperation with the United States Civil Service Commission. Preference will be given discharged servicemen in all cases. Others will be employed to the extent that qualified servicemen cannot be obtained.

The revenue agents' positions will pay $2,980, $3,640, $4,300 and $5,180 a year, depending upon education and experience. For the lowest grade position, completion of an acceptable accounting course can qualify an applicant. For the higher positions responsible experience in accounting is required. So far as possible, agents will be given work in their home areas.

There are also openings for special agents and for deputy collectors. Special agents are being recruited at starting salaries of $2,980 and $3,640. The qualifications required for special agents are similar to those required for revenue agents, except that investigative and legal training and experience can be substituted for accounting. Positions for deputy collectors, at $2,320 per year, are available for applicants whose business experience or training does not qualify them for revenue agent or special agent.

The new personnel is required to carry on the Treasury Department's intensified campaign against tax evasion.

Secretary of the Treasury Fred M. Vinson has directed vigorous steps to be taken to recruit revenue agents with special emphasis upon the recruitment of ex-servicemen.

President Truman has given the campaign against tax evaders and the recruitment drive his express approval, stating:

"I am thoroughly in sympathy with the plan to enlarge the Bureau of Internal Revenue forces to whatever extent is required to insure full compliance with the law."

Secretary Vinson has impressed upon the Bureau of Internal Revenue Agents the importance of obtaining men of good character in building up the investigative force. In this connection he said recently:

"This will be no gestapo. It will be a taxpayers' law enforcement group, protecting the government's interest in taxes, and at the same time protecting the honest taxpayer against the black market operator, the racketeer and every other kind of tax evader. And it will be good business too. We expect to collect twenty dollars for every one spent."

Applications for positions may be made to any office of the Civil Service Commission, to any Bureau of Internal Revenue office, or to the Director of Personnel, Treasury Department, Washington, 25, D. C. Special arrangements are available for giving information to servicemen at discharge centers.

Cherry Comments On Institute

"In a desire to call attention to the usefulness of the current issue of Popular Government, Published at Chapel Hill by the Institute of Government, Albert Coates, Director, I wish to point out that this publication is rendering a splendid type of public service to the state and its people. This is in keeping with the fine record of the organization.

"The current issue, containing 64 pages, presents a comprehensive and careful study of all the bills and resolutions of the 1945 North Carolina Legislature. The arrangement of this material makes the information readily available to those who wish to use it. The Institute staff, under Director Coates, has done such a complete job that I feel moved to express my personal and official appreciation.

"I understand that each city and county official in North Carolina—totaling some 7,500—has been mailed a copy of this issue of Popular Government. I urge that these local government officials use the magazine to acquaint themselves with legislative changes affecting their powers and duties. I would also like to suggest that this copy of the magazine be preserved for use during the coming months as a ready reference and guide to the session laws."

The Institute of Government staff acknowledges with appreciation this statement of Governor Cherry. Director Coates of the Institute, refers city, county and state officials to the usable pages of the current issue of Popular Government, for picture and stories of Institute staff members who started the legislative service in 1933, developed it in the legislative sessions of 1935, 1937, 1939, 1941, 1943, 1945, and who have won for themselves and the Institute of Government the recognition evidenced in Governor Cherry's statement.

Released From Service

T. Sgt. Woodruff, son of B. F. Woodruff, was discharged August 2 after nearly five years of service in the Army, being overseas thirty-two months. He served in Africa, Sicily, England, France, Belgium, Holland, and Germany with the Second Armored Division. He was wounded twice, once in France and once in Holland, and was hospitalized in England for two months. He was awarded the Silver Star, Purple Heart, Combat Infantryman's Badge and the Presidential Citation.

Joseph G. Wiggs Returning With 17th Airborne Division

With the 17th Airborne Division, Sept. 12. — S-Sgt. Joseph G. Wiggs, of Pine Level, N. C., will arrive in the United States shortly with the 17th Airborne Division when the division, representing the Airborne veterans of the European Theater of operations, returns home for deactivation.

S-Sgt. Wiggs is a member of the 507th Para-Reg't. He served as a Communication sergeant in the 507th Para-Reg't. and is qualified parachutist.

He participated in the following campaigns: Normandy, Central Germany, Ardennes, Rhineland, and wears the Bronze Star, Purple Heart, Combat Infantryman's Badge, Presidential Citation and Invasion Arrowhead.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Wiggs live at Pine Level, N. C.

The 17th Airborne Division is now composed of high point men from all the fighting airborne units in the European Theater. Although no one unit nor any individual took part in all the airborne operations the composite membership of the present 17th has taken part in each one, including those of North Africa, Sicily, Italy, Southern France, Normandy, Holland and across the Rhine in Germany.

The original 17th, which wears the golden eagle claw insignia and is commanded by Major General William M. Miley, trained at Camp Mackall, N. C., and Camp Forrest, Tenn., and arrived in England last summer. It was rushed by air to the continent last winter to help stop the German drive in the Battle of Bulge later helped push the Nazis back to their Siegfried Line defenses. After the Ardennes and Rhinland Campaigns, the 17th spearheaded the Battle of Central Europe by dropping across the Rhine and later helping clear out the Ruhr pocket. During this campaign it captured Franz Von Papen, German diplomat now awaiting trial as a war criminal.

Visits Mother

Junius H. Helm of the U. S. Army is spending a 30-day convalescent leave with his mother. He returned to the states August 12 after spending 3 years overseas. He is stationed at Camp Butner.

Another son, Marvin Helm and wife and child of Tampa, Fla., are home for a few days with their mother, Mrs. T. H. Helm of Selma, Rt. 1.

Civilians will now receive 136 million pounds of the 1945 canned salmon pack instead of the 55 million pounds of the 1944 pack. Meanwhile, Morgan place. Apply Mrs. Nelson is calling upon private

Much Wilt Found In Sweet Potato Fields

A large amount of wilt is being found in sweet potato fields this year, says Dr. Landis Bennett, in charge of seed certification at State College and secretary of the N. C. Crop Improvement Association.

Wilt occurs in the sweet potato seed stocks. It can also be produced by planting potatoes in soil that is infected with wilt. This wilt has been known to live for 10 to 15 years in the soil. Disease-free seed planted in disease-free soil is the answer to this problem, says Howard Garriss, Extension plant pathologist at State College.

This fall Dr. Bennett will examine certified stocks in storage for any signs of black rot, scurf, soft rot, and other such diseases. Black rot gives the potato a bitter taste. Garriss recommends seed treatment and rotation of soils.

For scurf, treat seed and don't use any stable manure in the fertilization of the crop.
For soft rot, clean and disinfect the sweet potato curing house and the storage house. Handle potatoes carefully so as not to skin them. Cure as quickly as possible.

J. Y. Lassiter, Extension horticulturist, and Hazel Meacham, marketing specialist, say that as competition becomes keener in the sweet potato markets, growers must be more careful in growing the right kind of potatoes; properly grade, cure and store them; and reduce production costs.

Presbyterian Auxiliary Holds Meeting

The Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church met Monday afternoon, September 3rd in the home of Mrs. Alice Hood with Mrs. Hattie McMillan as joint hostess.

In the absence of the president, the vice president presided. The opening prayer was offered by Mrs. H. L. Boney.

After the business discussions, Betty Joe McMillan gave a very interesting report on the Young Peoples Conference which was held at Roanoke Rapids.

The devotional "What Shall I Say" was given by Mrs. H. B. Hogue. The program "You leave your fingerprints" was interestingly presented by Miss Frances Humphries. A solo by Betty Joe McMillan added much to the program. The closing prayer was given by Mrs. R. C. Mozingo.

Catch forest fires when they are young and treat them rough, say Extension foresters of State College.

Sweet potato buyers will meet at Gibson on August 1 to study sweet potato research tests and new developments by all agricultural agencies.

Farm groups interested in cotton improvement and free cotton classing under the terms of the Smith-Doxey Act should complete the formal application before August 15.
