First 1949 Polio Case Reported in Johnston

The first case of infantile paralysis this year has been reported to the County Health Department.

Alf Poole, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rose Poole of Route 2, Raleigh, is the victim. The youth, who resides with his parents two miles northwest of Clayton, has been admitted to Rex Hospital. Poole was examined by a Clayton physician and referred to Dr. W. B. Dewar of Raleigh, who made a definite diagnosis of infantile paralysis.

Dr. E. S. Grady, county health officer, announced that there was no reason for alarm. It is normal for Johnston County to have a few polio cases in non-epidemic years, he said. The county can expect three or four more cases during the year, which will probably be a normal one, stated the health officer.

Cool, damp weather in recent weeks has been very favorable for the development of boll weevils in North Carolina.

FIREMAN RED!

Despite the fireman-red shade of her cotton broadcloth outfit, this young lady doesn't suffer from the heat. Designer Jo Collins took a cue from the cradle crowd's fashions and styled this dress-suit that is perfect for days when the mercury shoots skyward. The cool play-suit is cut in one piece, the National Cotton Council says.
