MAKE NEW SCHOOL YEAR RESOLUTIONS

Following are some of the new school year resolutions made by the pupils in Miss Hanff's English class:

I resolve to do everything I can to make Junior High a better school.

I resolve to always be honest in my work.

I resolve to be a good sport in all school games and to do my part in all home room and other programs.

I resolve to be present and on time at school every day that is possible.

I resolve not to chew gum in school.

I resolve not to complain or grumble about my home work.

I resolve to have my home work in on time every day.

I resolve not to run, push, or shout in the halls.

I resolve to take good care of my books.

I resolve to come to school looking clean and neat.

I resolve to do my part in keeping the school grounds clean and beautiful.

I resolve to be courteous to my teachers and class mates and loyal to them both in school and out.

FROM ROOM 3

(Kathryn Cross)

Miss Poole's home room has started this year with a fine school spirit. This is justified by the fact that this seventh grade class has so far received 24 subscriptions for the Junior Pointer. The pupils are working very hard in order for their room to go one-hundred per cent. Room 3 has also had nine days of perfect attendance.

Each day, Miss Poole appoints one student to have charge of the home room program for the following morning. The person in charge may conduct his program as he wishes. This schedule will be followed throughout the year, unless something interferes.

LET'S CO-OPERATE

New shrubbery and grass were planted last spring on the grounds of our Junior High School. September 7th was the beginning of a new school year, and we are very proud of the order in which the new students are acting in regards to taking care of the grass and shrubbery. We all want to co-operate in keeping the grounds neat and clean and continue to avoid damaging our school property.

—Nancy Cox.

VISIT TO THE NATIONAL BROADCASTING STUDIOS

(Garnett Hinshaw)

While my family and I were in New York during the last week in August, we visited the R. C. A. building and the National Broadcasting Studios. We were conducted from studio to studio. The guide showed us how the sounds of horses' hoofs on the road were made by using two simple suction cups and hitting them on his sides and legs. The sound of rain falling on a roof was made by moving a scrub brush on a piece of tin. If it were supposed to be raining hard, the guide would press down on the brush and move it faster.

Those who have listened to the "Show Boat" programs will probably be interested in learning how the "Show Boat" sounds are made. They are made by the turning of a hand wheel in a tub of water and the blowing of a box whistle for the "Show Boat" whistle. The guide said sponsors of the program frequently received cards and letters from people wanting to know when the Show Boat was coming to their city.

The guide took us to a room where you could see the electric current that his voice made. If he spoke loud and fast, the current would move fast and in large waves.

We also visited the largest studios in the world, where Major Bowes formerly gave his programs. This studio can seat comfortably about fourteen hundred persons and it has, too, a large stage for giving programs.

SAFETY FIRST

(Arthur Kaplan)

Being careful in how we cross the streets is very important in our daily schedule. Before you cross the street always follow the simple little rule. Stop, look, and listen before you cross the street, use your ears, use your eyes, and then use your feet. We must also be careful in our play. In your homes don't play with matches. Be careful, make it your business to always practice safety first.

ROOM 210 MAKES PERFECT ATTENDANCE RECORD

Not one single absence nor one tardy did room 210 have during the first month of school. This is indeed a wonderful record and what is still as wonderful is that the pupils in that room hope to make the same record the second month.

SEEN AND HEARD AT JUNIOR HIGH

It was told the other day that Miss Deans visited one of her pupils, George Brown. Instead of the knock-knock coming from Miss Deans, George answered the door with a knock-knock.

"Who's there?" asked Miss Deans. "Alma." "Alma who?" "Alma going to have trouble with you?"

"Joseph," said Mrs. Freeman, "have you ever seen a sort of scum on the water when you get out of the bathtub?"

"Yes," said Joseph. "What is it?" asked Mrs. Freeman. "Dirt," said Joseph.

James Drakos: "Do we have to use an art pencil in here for art?"

Pupil: "Mrs. Farley, where can I get one of them time tickets that let you out of this place?" (Referring to library slips.)

Pupil to one of the librarians: "Where can I find an Annie goat?" (Anecdote.)

Believe it or not, but an eighth grade boy owns a fine cow, which he says is a thoroughbred "whole steam" cow.

Mrs. Beaman: "Today we turn from prose to poetry."

Carl Hinson: "Ain't poetry a chicken farm?"

Miss Washburn: "How many inches are there in a foot?" Boy in eighth grade: "It depends on how big the foot is."

Mary Caroline Simmons: "Miss Titman, I'd like to be in the Glee Club, but I have such a down voice."

Miss Titman: "What do you mean by down voice?"

Mary Caroline: "Oh, my voice is just down like Bill's—way down yonder."

Seen strolling through the halls—Dwight Harris wearing a golden rod.

D. A. Yarber to home work teacher: "I'll see you this afternoon."

Carthell Spain—picking himself up after measuring something over five feet of floor space with his body.

Reply To Welcome From Seventh Grade

(Jacquelyn Price)

In reply to the cordial welcome extended to us by the older students of Junior High School, we, the new comers, would like to express our appreciation of this welcome and say it makes us feel less like strangers and more a part of the school.

We like Junior High School and we want to help keep up its high standards.

There are many reasons why we like Junior High. Everyone likes to change classes and teachers, and we like only one subject every night for home work. There are other reasons why individuals like the school. For instance, Howard Medlin likes the tunnel and cafeteria. Dina Taylor enjoys the food, and J. C. Starbuck says he gets plenty of exercise going through the halls. Jack Davis likes it because he does not have to wait for the truck to bring him to school. Louise Summey likes sewing, and H. D. Johnson says the time seems to pass faster than it did at his other school. Wilma Warren likes home room period because she can talk, sing, read, and do other things. Harold Hayworth is fascinated by the phone and clock in each room. Helen Francis Allread likes the opportunity to take music lessons. Geneva Brown, Arthur Lyon, Wray Crawford, B. C. Angel and many others say they too like the gymnasium. Otis York likes the shop because they make so many different things.

As C. L. Bayne says, "You can't help from learning a little, anyhow, in Junior High School."

My Visit To The "Queen Mary"

(George Stallings)

This summer I went on the Queen Mary. A line of people six blocks long was waiting to go sight-seeing on the ship.

The Queen Mary is a Cunard White Star Liner.

It would take "sixty five" pullman sleepers to move the passengers that the Queen Mary can carry at one time.

Each of the four propellers weighs thirty-five tons and all are so delicately balanced that they may be turned by a touch of the hand.

Passengers in the Queen Mary can readily communicate with any part of the civilized world. The world's best shops and stores have their counterparts in the Queen Mary's shopping center.

The swimming pool is filled with a beautiful, green water which looks very inviting.

The dining saloon is very beautiful, also. It has about seventy-eight types of wood panelled in the walls.

The ship has in it about ninety-eight types of wood from different countries.

The Queen Mary impressed me as being very huge and beautiful.

The first Cunard liner with Columbus' fleet could be placed in the main foyer and restaurant of the Queen Mary.

Why They Subscribe

(Peggy Teague)

There are many different reasons for wanting to subscribe to the Junior Pointer. I think that almost every student of the school is going to subscribe.

Clark Wilson wants to take the Junior Pointer because it tells what the boys and girls are doing in their rooms.

Anna Lou Doctor is going to subscribe because she wants to know what is going on all over the school.

The jokes and riddles, and nonsense in the paper are what Arline Calloway likes to read.

The reason Hazel Boggs is going to take the Junior Pointer is because it will help her in her studies.

Carroll Henderson wants the Junior Pointer because it tells about the ball games and track meets.

The reason Doris Loflin is going to subscribe is because she wants to read about the other students.

Give Reasons For Liking Junior High

One day while I was talking with some friends I happened to bring up the subject of "Why I like to come to Junior High." Here are some of their opinions. —Mimi Wagger.

I have been in school in Nashville, Burlington, and Greenlaine, Pa. I can proudly say that I enjoy coming to this Junior High School much better than any other school I have attended. Mrs. Ranson is so nice and makes everyone like to come here. Another reason I like Junior High is because it is so pretty. —Nancy Cox.

I like Junior High because you meet a lot of new friends. The teachers are so nice and have so much patience with their students. Another reason why I like this school is because it has such a fine gymnasium. —Annie Ruth Belle.

I like to come to this Junior High because I feel that I get more out of my studies than in elementary schools. I like the boys and girls because they are very friendly and are always willing to help in any way they can.

—Frances Carmichael.

MESSAGE FROM STUDENT COUNCIL PRESIDENT

(Vernon Kennedy)

The Student Council of the Junior High School for this year is going to try to help every one in the school in every way possible. We are going to try to keep the school safe for every one in it, and try to keep the building and grounds as clean as we can. This organization is planning to work together and to help all to obey all rules. We want to make our school safe in every way.

I appreciate the honor of being the president of the council, and I hope to co-operate with teachers and pupils in every way I can to make this a fine year for the Junior High School.
