Magazine Sales Exceed Goal; Rooms 214, 210 Lead School

Bill Abernethy

With an effort spearheaded by Mrs. Lena Hedrick's homeroom 214 and Mrs. Thelma Briggs' 210, Junior High pushed over its magazine drive of $7,000 by a margin of $760.22. Mrs. Hedrick's room, an eighth grade, brought in $684.00. Mrs. Briggs' room, a ninth grade, brought in $505.00.

Three individual leaders brought in over $100.00 in subscriptions. They were: Candy Crawford with $332.45, Randy Hutchens with $114.00 and Elizabeth Rives with $100.25.

944 Students Buy Insurance

Melinda Causby

Each year Pilot Life Insurance Company offers a special policy to students to cover accidents at school and going to and from school.

This year 944 students bought insurance with the money totaling $1,416, an increase of $264.75 over last year's $1,151.25. Part of the increase is due to a 25c increase in price.

"Accidents last year included broken arms, sprained fingers and ankles and many kinds of cuts," stated Mrs. Barbara Gordon, school secretary. "We have had all kinds of accidents."

Mrs. Gordon wishes to suggest to students that, if anytime they are injured at school or going to and from school, they should report the injury to the office and secure an insurance slip.

"After a minor accident has occurred," she went on to say, "we have no way of knowing about it unless it is reported promptly."

All boys who play football must have this insurance before they can report for practice.

Candy, who led her nearest two competitors by a margin of over $200.00 for top-salesman-of-the-school spot, chose a Philco portable radio as her prize. She also won a brownie Hawk-eye flash camera outfit as daily prize winner on the last day of the campaign. Moreover, she received a trophy inscribed with her name and accomplishment, a lapel pin and a citation.

Randy, of 204, chose a record player as his prize. He won a football as a daily prize winner. Elizabeth, of 112, received a movie camera for her effort in the campaign. Both Randy and Elizabeth will receive lapel pins and citations.

Teachers whose rooms were highest in the seventh, eighth and ninth grades, received desk clocks. These teachers were Miss Mildred Knox, Mrs. Lena Hedrick and Mrs. Thelma Briggs.

This year magazines were sold for the Educational Reader Service Corporation.

Junior High receives practically all the money for its activity fund from its part of the magazine sales. This makes it unnecessary to put on projects to raise money.

School causes which have been financed through this source are Junior Pointer, Student Council activities, handbooks, American Education Week and student dances.

American Education Week to Feature Open House, Radio Play by Council

Donna Ray Clement

"An Educated People Moves Freedom Forward" is the theme for the 1957 American Education Week, November 10-16. There will be an Open House at Junior High, Monday, November 11, when parents and teachers will have a chance to meet and discuss accomplishments of the students up to this point.

Parents will meet in the school auditorium at 7:30. The program for the evening will include a play entitled "Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow." The cast will consist of Student Council members.

From the auditorium the parents will visit the various rooms and to climax the evening, refreshments made by the home economics department will be served in the gymnasium.

Also as a part of the celebration the Student Council will present a play entitled "Keeping Up With Today" on WMFR radio.

The daily topics for American Education Week are:

"Education for Moral Values", Sunday, November 10; "Education for Responsible Citizenship", Monday, November 11; "What Our Schools Should Achieve", Tuesday, November 12; "Ways to Provide Better Education", Wednesday, November 13; "Our Community's Teachers", Thursday, November 14; "Our School-Community Relationships", Friday, November 15; "Our Own Responsibility for Better Schools", Saturday, November 16.

Parents are always urged to visit the school and sit in on any class during American Education Week. They are also invited to have lunch in the school cafeteria.

Bulletin boards all over the building point up the theme of the week and portray work that is going on in the classrooms. There are also special exhibits in the art and woodworking departments.

Judy Culp, Council President Calls for Loyalty to School

Becky Fowler

"I hope that together we may pledge our best loyalty to Junior High, our best in striving toward self-development, our truest faith to ourselves, and our sincerest confidence in the contribution we have to make personally. — You and I together, with a job only we can do." With this wish, Judy Culp, the new president of Junior High, closed her inaugural speech on September 20 at the installation service before the student body.

Lyndia Williard, vice-president, and Kathy Jowett, secretary-treasurer, were installed by Bill Petree, the former president. Judy took her oath from Dr. Lloyd Y. Thayer. A councilman, and mayor from each room, 84 monitors, and the chairmen of the standing committees were also installed during the service.

The chairmen of the committees are as follows:

Auditorium, Bob Zimmerman; Bulletin Board, Linda Henry and Pat Kidd; Cafeteria, Joy Watkins

and Freddie De Lappe; Campus, Wayne Snider and Tommy Marley; Civic Affairs, Jimmie Sue Hart and Jimmy Morgan; Devotions, Ann Patterson and Sylvia Freeman; House Committee, Louis Bissette; Office, Lost and Found, Becky Fowler and Anita Gregroy; Junior Red Cross, Linda Cabot; Social, J. R. Maners and Donna Raye Clement; Visual Aids, Scott Parker.

Bulletin

Mrs. Lena Hedrick's eighth grade 214 is the only room in school to report 100% subscription to the Junior Pointer. They have 34 students taking the school paper. Miss Minton's room 201 is second with 29. Then comes 205 with 28, 217 with 26 and 209 with 25. These are Mrs. Beamon's, Miss Privette's and Miss Nash's rooms, respectively.

October 31 to See Sadie Hawkins Here; Sposored by G.A.A.

Jimmie Hughey

Look out boys . . . Here comes Sadie Hawkins.

That's what one will hear on October 31, the day of the Sadie Hawkins Race and Dance. It will be held immediately after school, with anyone from Junior High attending. The boys will line up for the race at the flagpole and the girls at the basketball court. When the whistle is blown everyone will run. Girls will chase boys and take them into the gym immediately after they are caught, for the dance. Boys may be asked ahead of time but still have to be caught.

Inside, there will be a variety of two cent games, and refreshments may be purchased.

This will be boys' day. The girls will assist the boys as the boys have done in the past.

This dance will be sponsored by the G.A.A., to raise money for their Play Day in Greensboro this spring.

Nine New Personalities Added to Faculty This Year; Four Are Men

Sue Latimer

Nine new seventh and eighth grade teachers have entered Junior High school's "stately halls" this fall. Men make up an unusually high percentage of this year's newcomers with four of the nine being of the "dominating sex."

Teacher of seventh grade subjects in room 116 is Miss Sarah Brawley. Miss Brawley comes from Statesville, N. C. and attended Flora MacDonald College in Red Springs, N. C. One of her main interests is music. About Junior High she says, "The students are nice. I like it a lot".

Mr. Donald Kearns teaches seventh grade subjects in room 5. A graduate of High Point College, he comes from Troy, N. C. He majored in social studies in college. One of Mr. Kearns' main interests is travel. He was in the army two years during which time he visited Korea and Japan.

Teaching for her first year in room 202 is Miss Jean Mosley. A graduate of High Point College, Miss Mosley teaches eighth grade math and English. She was a member of the Scholastic Honor Society and co-editor of the college paper, the Hi-Po.

Teacher and father of a 10-month old daughter is Mr. Ingle Cook who teaches seventh grade subjects in room 113. He comes from Kannapolis, N. C. and attended Catawba College in Salisbury. His main interests are sports and good music. He says that he is "very impressed" with Junior High.

Mrs. Laura Phillips is the new girls' counselor and guidance teacher. She is from Marion, N. C. and attended Western North Carolina Teachers College in Cullowhee, N. C. where she received a Bachelor of Science degree in French and business and also the University of North Carolina where she received a Masters degree in French and guidance. Her main interest is music and she collects records.

Her husband works at Wachovia Bank.

Teacher of eighth grade math and social studies in room 216 is Mr. Hilbert Carroll. He is from Grah, Kentucky and attended High Point College where he majored in social studies. He is very interested in teaching Bible and almost has a Doctor of Divinity degree.

Mrs. Doris Cox, teacher of Bible, is originally from Elizabeth City, N. C. She attended Meredith College in Raleigh where she majored in Bible and English. One of her main interests is reading. She was married several weeks ago and her husband is a teacher at Senior High.

Teacher of industrial arts in room 3 is Mr. Jasper Jones. A graduate of East Carolina College in Greenville, N. C., he is from Oxford, N. C. He majored in industrial arts in college. He is very fond of fishing, hunting and working with wood in the workshop.

Although new to Junior High, Mrs. Ida Pickens is not new to teaching. She has taught in High Point grammar schools for several years. A graduate of Duke University, she teaches seventh grade art in room 4. She loves creative work, especially drawing and sewing.
