Duncan, Boggs Win Top Awards In Art Contest

Melinda Causby

In the International Scholastic Art Contest Jimmy Duncan of room 113 won one of the five Hallmark honor prizes. Dona Boggs of room 4 received a gold achievement key. Marcia Holder and Paul McDade of 201 received certificates of merit.

Jimmy and Dona's work will go to New York to compete in the national contest. Both these pictures are interpretations of the students' own experiences on Hallowe'en. Jimmy's picture done in opaque water color, was titled "Hallowe'en Fun." Dona's Hallowe'en Hobgoblin was a scratchwork design of a masked figure.

Marica and Paul's entries were both in the field of photography. Their work will be displayed at Elliot Hall Woman's College Campus and WFMV-TV from February 24 through March 8.

Students in Miss Patsy Harrelson's and Mrs. Ida Picken's are classes entered 20 pieces in the contest. Two still life scenes were submitted. Both were done in oil. These were painted by Zana Lanier of room 209 and Robert Jackson of room 112.

From Mrs. Picken's seventh grade art classes several opaque water colors were entered. These were done by Linda Hall of 103, Brenda Riley and Phyllis Williams, both of 114.

Kaye Johnson, a seventh grader from room 5, entered a cottage which is a composition of pasted material forming a design.

Lelia Clinard of room 214 submitted six weaving samples to the contest. These samples were woven on a hand loom and showed an original design. Lelia is an art student of Miss Harrelson. Also from Miss Harrelson's classes an enamel was entered by Brenda Henry.

The separate photography division was entered by Marica Holder, Paul McDade, Sally Drake, Sandra Stone, and Vickie Snider.

Eighth and Ninth Grade Girls To Present Fashion Show

Sue Latimer

Eighth and ninth grade clothing classes will present a spring fashion show on March 19 at chapel periods in the auditorium. Home economics teachers, Miss Virginia Blount, Mrs. Marion Erath, and Miss Iris Kiger will direct the program.

The fashion show will be divided into six parts. Each of the scenes will have a different setting, but all will be related to the unfolding of spring foliage and flowers. All garments of one particular type will be shown together. The first part will feature skirts, the second pajamas, the third blouses and skirts, the fourth skating outfits, and the fifth dresses.

For the last part, some eighth grade girls will present a short skit which is related to bathing the baby as it was learned in their child care or baby sitting classes.

To Attend Meeting

Mr. Robert McGowan, 206, Mrs. Elizabeth Beamon, 205, Mrs. Doris Cox, Bible teacher, and Mr. Charles Weaver, boy's counselor, will represent Junior High in the state convention of the North Carolina Education Association which will meet March 20, 21, and 22 in Asheville. Public Address System Suffering From Many Years of Service

Connie Newnam

In the morning several weeks ago, at exactly eight thirty-five o'clock, nothing happened! Now this wouldn't be so unusual except that something was supposed to be heard. Everyone was expecting the daily announcements. But instead of devotional music they saw, felt, and heard absolutely nothing!

That morning wasn't the first time the public address system had an attack of rheumatism, and it probably won't be the last either. For twenty-five years that faithful machine has served Junior High, making announcements about everything from the honor roll students to the ones in detention hall. Its duty has been done.

In recent years the P. A. system has had to be overhauled many times. The same wiring has remained in Junior High that was there when it was built. Those hundreds of tiny wires have stuck together in different places, causing the whole system to short and not work. A simple definition of this trouble would be just plain "old age".

Even with its rheumatism and broken parts, the public address system gets most of the messages through with only a little coaxing from the announcer. But it would feel better to be on the safe side. So, if anyone has a P. A. system lying around not being used, please lend it to the school. It will certainly be most "hearingly" appreciated!

Herbert, Lewis, Watkins Elected Second Semester Officers

Donna Raye Clement

Trudge Herbert, Charlie Lewis, and Joy Watkins are the newly elected officers for the second semester. Each of the candidates running had some stiff competition.

With citations and congratulations, Trudge Herbert of room 205 entered the office of presidency after the final election between him and Donna Raye Clement. Eliminated in the primary election were Linda Cabot and Ann Patterson.

Trudge is a boy of many achievements. Besides being on the basketball team, he placed second in the state in a mechanical drawing contest in 1957. Being on the radio program presented by Jr. High for American Education Week was another feather in his hat, and (furthermore, he was in the peanut galley on the Howdy Doody Show.)

Trudge is the son of Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Hebert, Jr. Dr. Hebert is pastor of Wesley Memorial Methodist Church.

Says Trudge, "I'm counting on the entire student body to help me make this a successful year."

Trudge, with the help of Mrs. Phillips, appointed the committee chairmen and co-chairmen as follows: Auditorium, Charlie Mc-

Anally, David Dahle; Bulletin Board, Zana Lanier; Rose Ann Boyles; Campus, Bob Zimmerman, Bill Burris; Devotions, Judy Culp Nancy Slawter; House Jimmy Lou Hart, Priscilla Davis; Lost and Found, Pat Kidd; Junior Red Cross, Carolyn Peatross, Sylvia Saunders; Visual Aids, Glen Wheelless; Social, Louis Bissette, Patsy Peatross; Civic Affairs, Donna Raye Clement, Bill Okey.

Winning over Priscilla Davis for the office of vice presidency, Charlie Lewis of room 208 has this to say about the election, "It is a great honor for me to be given the privilege to serve you as vice president. With your co-operation and help, I feel that we can make Jr. High a better school."

Charlie and Priscilla won over Doris Messenger, Tony Rohcelle, David Dahle, Louis Bissette, and Carolyn Peatross who were eliminated in the primary election.

Charlie takes an active part in school and social activities. He was homeroom councilman, a monitor, and he was a Senior Patrol Leader in his scout troop.

Charlie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Clyde Lewis of 811 East Lexington Ave. He attends Green Street Baptist Church where he is active in the various activities.

Bob Zimmerman, Judy Johnson, and Linda Seism, being defeated in the primary election, left the final choice for secretary and treasurer between Pat Kid and Joy Watkins. Joy, of room 209, was the winner and she says, "I will do my best to serve my school and to leave it, not less, but greater than it was left to me."

Last semester Joy was homeroom councilman, a monitor, president of orchestra, and chairman of the cafeteria committee. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Watkins of 501 Spruce Street.

Read All About It In The Slam Book

Doris Messenger

Slam books, which are like an encyclopedia to students, and poison ivy to teachers, are the latest fads. Three slam books were seized, and from them this "valuable" information was taken.

Some of the questions which were asked and some of the answers that were given are: what is period you like best? Lunch. Who is your ideal? The Mad Bomber. What is your favorite food? Hamburgers and cheeseburgers. What is your favorite song? "Oh, Golly Miss Molly" and "Davey Crockett." Who is your favorite actor and actress? Rock Hudson, Cleo and Lassie.

The favorite television and radio programs are "Zorro" and "Downbeat."

Two personalities were chosen for those best in some particular sport. Bob Chambers was chosen as the best in basketball, and Jimmy Morgan best in football.

Tommy Marley and Rose Ann Boyles were chosen as the wittest, and Wayne Snider as the craziest.
