Selection of Donald Davis as a member of this year's All-East baseball team further emphasizes his athletic ability. The New Bern High school senior was given a grant in aid at Wake Forest because of his football prowess, but it may turn out that he will be more valuable as an infielder for the Deacon nine.

back the Deacs won a national crown. It is entirely possible that Donald will excel in both football and baseball at the Winston-Salem school. Certainly he is better than a fair prospect for professional baseball after college graduation.

Davis has toyed with the idea of becoming a sports writer, and he might eventually end up pounding a typewriter. Some of the better scribblers in the business started out as active athletes, so he has that much going in his favor.

If he elects to place college base-he'll be overlooked by Major Leagues, there's little danger that he'll be overlooked by Major League scouts. Expansion of the American and National loops has brought about a shortage of performers who can measure up to Big League requirements. This situation isn't apt to improve in the near future.

Because of greed, the Majors strangled the Minors to death. It was a costly mistake. Now Big Leagues owners find it necessary to pay huge bonuses to college players, and have no adequate farm systems to provide seasoning for these promising but inexperienced youngsters.

As a result, rookies reach the Majors with little polish. A few are so blessed with talent that they are able to overcome this handicap. Most of them are doomed to disappointment through no fault of their own.

That he, the deponent, was lately approved of as guardian to the children of Mrs. Spaight, and Attorney in fact for Richard B. Jones and Frances Ann his wife.

That Joseph Leech was the executor of Harding Jones.

That a decreed made at April Term 1806, it appeared that Mr. Woods on April 19, 1806, paid the sum of 124.18.8 of which sum 60.18.2 was paid to Mary Vail, the Administratrix of Thomas Vail.

Among the papers found was the bond of Mary Vail, Admx. of Thomas Vail, and no other bond was found.

With reference to the heirs, two are dead, and the other gone out of the United States with her husband, who is the United States Consul at Tripoli, with whom, owing to the war it was impossible to correspond. They left New Bern for Philadelphia in the early part of the year 1810, and Mrs. Spaight and George M. Leech died about July, August or September 1810.

Frances Ann Leech, the other heir, intermarried with Reuben B. Jones and they came that fall to New Bern where they staid until the summer. From the affidavit of Mr. Hawks it appears that these notes had been found previously to this period. Yet no intimation appears to have been given said Jones or his lady of their being in the hands of Mr. Woods' Executors, nor had the deponent received any notice of the fact. Signed by William Bleckledge before John F. Smith, one of the Justices for Craven County.
