The National Honor Society held its spring inductions at New Bern High School Friday, April 3. Sherry Provo gave devotionals. Barbara Wetherington, president of the National Honor Society, gave the definition and purpose of the organization.

Mary Helen Williams spoke on character, Millie Sue Cole spoke on scholarship, Sallie King spoke on leadership, and Linda Matthews spoke on service.

The new inductees were--from the senior class--Ken McCotter, Judy Williams and Suzanne Whitten, and from the junior class--Frances Ivey, Sandra Bousman, Thomas Hardison, Robert Anderson and Marcia Somers.

The parents of those students should be very proud, and do everything they can to encourage them on. Congratulations, fellow students!

Nothing much has been said of the baseball team as of yet. They seem to be doing pretty good so far. Everyone come to see the Bears play Saturday night at New Bern High School. They will appreciate your patronage.

Assembly was held today. The NBHS band was very entertaining to us all. Good news, music fans! The Embers are going to be in New Bern at the Shrine Club Saturday. All be sure to attend.

BEAMING—Becky Collins of Route 1, Maysville, was wearing this smile when we spied her in New Bern. She is happy at the prospect of being six on April 27. Becky already knows her alphabet, counts to one hundred, and can write everyone's name in the family. She plays the piano and has three dogs. She was born at Baptist Memorial Hospital in New Bern.

Campaigning has begun for the next years' officers at New Bern High. Good luck to all those who are running. Also cheerleading try outs will begin soon. When things like that begin to happen, the seniors involved (sometimes) get a sad twinge inside. "Never again," they sigh.

Until next week, drive carefully and watch out for the other fellow. Notice! What has happened to Tom and Dave lately? We happen to miss their lovely voices.
