

The Grapevine

will surely make me lose my feeble mind! It's about to drive me crazy. You see, I have contracted my roommate's complaint, hay fever, and I sneeze so much till I don't know my head from a hole in the ground. Is there anything you could recommend to prevent my sneezing?---or at least make me as good at it as Lib Young:

Thank you (A-choo! --see, there I go!)

Mena Branch Fleming

Dear Mena Bra-banch! (Gee, you've got me doing it.)

May I suggest Thantis? They give you a lovely rosy tint on tongue and teeth, and are really remarkable the way they save lipstick. As a last resort, if they don't give immediate results, you know there's always Argyrol for eyes, ears, nose, and throat!

Yours thru rose-colored glasses.

Mrs. Fix

Dear Mrs. Horrible Fix,

I'm in a horrible, horrible, fix. After I made so much time with Bud and went over to May Frolics with him 'n all, I naturally thought I had him sewed up. But Tудie and Tish have practically taken him away from me. What to do to restore my self-confidence, and incidentally my love?

Trustingly,
Margaret White

Dear Margaret,

I have just the thing! All you have to do is to spend a few hours each day on the roof, and you'll soon have a tan that will equal any that Neff ever had. And I hear that you have already started well on the road to opera. Keep up the good work, and your pipes will be as well tuned as our star sopranos.

Fixingly,
Fixy

May Day--

May first is almost here and Miss Vincella, assisted by members of her dancing class, are preparing a real treat for the friends, students, and faculty of Saint Mary's. The fete will be presented on the campus before the queen, "Tootsie" Martin. Her maid-of-honor is Mary Taylor Hinnant and the Ladies-in-Waiting are Tудie Neff, Patsy Jones, Betsy Hobby; Elizabeth Young, Betty Scott, Janet Bear, Olive Cruikshank, Jervay Quintard, Hunt Hardinge, Kitty Bernhardt, Kitty Estes, Louise Baccus, Ann Whaling, and Duke Blue. The pages are Lossie Taylor, Frances Smith, Janet McConnell, and Kay Castles. The flower girls are Lildred Littlefield and Sarah Sutton. The queen will wear blue and the members of her court pastel colors.

The program of dances will be as follows: Etude, Dance Prelude, A group of Children's rhymes, Duet, The Ritual, Rhythm of the Bea Grasses, Solo, Modern Jump Study, and the May pole Dance.

The girls have spent a great deal of time practicing and making their costumes and one may be assured of a colorful and delightful entertainment.

Class Room Soliloquy

It is nine o'clock and here I am in English class again, but we have only five more weeks of school and the last week is exam week. Let's see four more weeks of school means twelve more English classes. I hope

Mr. Moore won't ask me the meaning of a word. I never am explicit enough, and gee, I get tired of trying. Nothing seems to please. Oh, now he's saying something about since we aren't interested in our lessons we'll talk about something more interesting. What's the latest news? I haven't read a newspaper in weeks and if I did glance at one it was to scan the society pages and the funny strips. It's ninety-three. I'll be glad when the end of this week comes. What makes me wish away the time? I wish that I could get it into my feeble mind that I'm seventeen and this wonderful age will really never return. Years from now I'll look back and realize how silly and foolish I was.

Gee, but I'm sleepy. I wish Ellen and I hadn't talked so long last night, but when I get wound up about the beach and this coming summer I just can't stop. I wonder if the time will ever come when I shall feel that I'm really not sleepy.

We Suggest:-

A book on developing the personality for Esther, if she really intends to carry out her threats.

Another lens for her dark glasses, if Miss MacLider wants an effective disguise as a soda jerker.

A wing to the 3rd floor balcony.

An orchard to Betty Frazier for her excellent substitution at the organ last Sunday, and also, one to Miss Brewster for her speedy recovery.

More daddys at future Junior-Seniors. We loved your pop, Payne.
