

LIBRARY CONTEST COMPLETED

In celebration of National Book Week, the librarians of Saint Mary's held a contest which consisted of giving the name of the book and the author of the book as represented by the pictures posted on the Library bulletin board. Some of the pictures were from the jackets of the books, some of characters in the book, and some were of scenes from the book. The winner of the contest was Ida Mary Turner, with a score of forty-six out of a possible sixty correct authors and titles. She will be allowed to select a book for her prize. There were two honorable mentions; Mary Connally Coxe, with a score of forty-three out of sixty, and Ida Quintard with a score of thirty-nine.

Some of the girls have been wondering about just how many of the pictures they got right; so, for their benefit, the correct answers are as follows:

- Dickens, Charles, The Old Curiosity Shop.
 Dickens, Charles, Pickwick Papers.

- Dickens, Charles, A Christmas Carol.
 Ruskin, John, The King of the Golden River.

- Scott, Sir Walter, Ivanhoe.
 Melville, Herman, Moby Dick.
 Shakespeare, William, Romeo and Juliet.
 Curie, Eve, Biography of Madame Curie.
- 9. Twain, Mark, Adventures of Tom Sawyer. 10. Carroll, Lewis, Alice in Wonderland.
- Fairy Story, Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs.
 Green, Paul, The Lost Colony.
- Milne, A. A., When We Were Very Young.
 Scott, Sir Walter, The Lady of the Lake.
- 15. Stevenson, Robert Lewis, Treasure Island.
- 16. Kipling, Rudyard, Jungle Book.
- 17. Lindbergh, Charles, We.

- Thackeray, William M., Vanity Fair.
 Alcott, Louisa, Little Women. 20. Franklin, Benjamin, Autobiography of Benjamin
- Franklin.
- 21. Rostand, Edmund, ('yrano de Bergerac.
- 22. Hobart, A. T., Yang and Yin. 23. Roberts, Kenneth, Northwest Passage.
- 24. Burns, Robert, Tam O'Shanter.
- 25. Hawthorne, Nathaniel, House of Seven Gables. 26. Edmonds, W. D., Drums Along the Mohawk.
- 27. The Story of Robin Hood.
- Longfellow, Henry W., Hiawatha.
 Buck, Pearl, The Good Earth.
- 30. Orczy, Baroness, The Scarlet Pimpernel.

Last Wednesday morning in the auditorium, also in celebration of National Book Week, Dr. Mary Lynch Johnson, of the English Department of Meredith College, talked interestingly and helpfully about having Leisure to Grow Wise. It is believed that the Student Body will be stimulated to using the library more often.

BALLET RUSSE ATTENDED

The greater Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo presented two programs in Page Auditorium, Duke University, on November 21, afternoon and evening performances. The matinee, which a group of Saint Mary's students attended, consisted of three ballets. "Coppelia," with which the program opened, is the original "doll valet," its alternate title being "The Girl With the Enamel Even". Other ballets on the offerneen process. Eyes." Other ballets on the afternoon program were "Spectre de la Rose," a briefer classical composition danced by Nini Theilade, a Danish-Javanese artist of great style and delicacy, and Roland Guerard; and "Prince Igor," an elaborate and colorful ballet com-posed of the spirited Polovtsian dances from Borodin's opera of the same name.

Quite a number of the faculty attended the evening performance, which was made up of the famous "Giselle" and "Gaité Parisienne," the famous Leonide Massine being the Perumon in the latter.

The two performances practically defy analysis or description by an amateur reporter. Suffice it to say, we shall long remember the beauty of the Ballet Russe when we have forgotten many another exciting experience.

The famous company consists of 65 dancers, exclusive of its technical crew and wardrobe mistresses, numbering 35. It also has its own accompanying orchestra and a small menagerie of pets. For three days last week this international company appeared in Philadelphia in joint performances with the Philadelphia Orchestra.

MRS. GORDON INSPIRES Y. P. S. L.

The November 13 meeting of the Young People's Service League was made especially interesting by the presence of Mrs. W. J. Gordon, President of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Diocese of North Carolina. She spent the following week speaking at devotional meditations at the Good Shepherd Church. Mrs. Gordon is better known to the students of Saint Mary's as the mother of Laura Gordon, President of the Junior Class.

Mariana Hancock, President of the Y. P. S. L., introduced Mrs. Gordon, who began her talk by asking the students, "Just what do you intend to do with your life?" Her interpretation of this question was concerned with the spiritual life of each girl, a view which she defined clearly. "It is your duty to be not only a success outwardly, but also to achieve much in your inward, or spiritual, life" was the inspiring theme of her talk. She undoubtedly left each student greatly impressed by what she sincerely believed important in the life of every girl at Saint Mary's.