

SENIORS CHOOSE COLLEGES FOR NEXT YEAR

Carolina Is the Choice of Twenty-eight Girls

When Mary Helen drops the white handkerchief on Monday morning, the 4, sixty-two seniors will officially be graduates of Saint Mary's Senior College. They will take their diplomas and go on their way to continue their education at various colleges.

Seems as if the dear old University heads the list of choices again! Twenty-eight of the sixty-two graduates will transfer to Carolina. They are Frances Avera, Ann Brundage, Lucette Callum, Betsy London Corbett, Phyllis Cowdery, Ann Cutts, Helen Davis, Mary Dickey, Jane Myers, Annette Fulton, Ruth Gee, Mary West Gilman, Sibyl Kerch, Mary Harris, Gwen Hughes, Betty Kendrick, Carolina Long, Margaret Martin, Peggy Moran, Mildred Parker, Jane Peete, Sallie Robertson, Carrie Maie Wade, Clarice Woolard, Virginia Wilson, Jean Maske, Tommy Cates, and Kathryn Stone.

Mary C. Bowers, Kate Broadfoot, Joan Campbell, and Lucy Seaman are going to Randolph-Macon. Margaret Gregory is going to Sweetbriar. Those who chose Duke are Billye Wipe, Margaret Rodwell, Ann Edmonds, Randolph Gardner, and Mary Arden Tucker. Susan Caldwell and Jean Conover are going down to the University of Georgia. Doney Jones and Martha Parker are going to the University of South Carolina. Those going to Hollins are Isabelle Robinson and Maybelle Smith.

Betsy Durham is going back home to Michigan next year. She will attend University of Michigan. Caroline Holland and Barnie White are going to Katherine Gibbs in New York. Sue Moore is going to Connecticut College and Mary Holmes is going to Sophie Newcomb. Sarah Stewart and Marguerite Thompson are going to Woman's College in Greensboro. Frances Collett is going to Wake Forest. Elizabeth Thomas will go to Washington University in Saint Louis, Missouri.

Some are still undecided. Ruth Hayes may go to Salem; Betty Lou Wood will probably go to Hood College; Sarah Coe Hunsucker and Anna Margaret Moomaw will go to Randolph-Macon or Hollins; Jean Sullivan may go to Salem; Eleanor Thomas will probably go to Carolina; Florence Tyler may go to Northwestern University in Evanston, Illinois; Stuart Verdery will then go to Hollins or the University; and Roberta Bryant may go to Mary Baldwin.

Sophomore Suzie

Gee, now it's done gone and happened. All those old Seniors are graduating—what on earth will it all be like next year with another bunch of Seniors to get acquainted with? Wonder how long it'll be before they start trooping down to Saturday night movies by fours, dashing out for a collegiate short dinner on Sunday, getting phone calls from Beckton and dating all the ensigns out there? And I wonder if they'll start cooking in Holt right away, and whether they'll adopt stray puppy-dogs, and whether they'll keep orchids in the windows during winter and sun themselves behind Holt in the spring. In other words, I wonder if they'll be different.

But why should I go worrying 'bout that when I've just finished up all my exams this morning. Just think! no more blue books 'till next year. Incidentally, Phyl found that those same horrid blue books make wonderful stationery for long letters; just fold in the middle and seal with adhesive tape or perhaps an extra band-aid. But now they're all over and I promise, honest PROMISE, that next semester I'm really going to study day by day. But to be frank, I bet I don't.

Holt doesn't look quite the same now. There are trunks and Saint Mary's packing boxes and parents in the halls. And Ruth Gee is still flashing that beautiful silver cigarette case around, particularly the back of it. But everybody is taking down the pictures of all their men and are packing away their pennants and trophies of war for next year. Mary Arden is taking that Totem Pole over to Duke to get her through quizzes over there too. Maria is taking her coffee pot on to Sweet Briar for boiling eggs and making soup and the such. But then I wonder what Vickey and Sylvia will do with that monstrous picture of Frank Sinatra. But I bet not many Van Johnsons land in the scrap paper drive. But then just think of all the "Back Home For Keeps" (plural, but I don't know how to spell it) that will be left on the walls of Holt, and every other building for that matter.

Well, here 'tis—good-bye. I can't quite believe it but it is so—so, that's that. Have fun this summer.
