

SOMETHING NEW

Here are a few dots and dashes from among our new girls.

Quite a few families have more than one representative here at Saint Mary's School. Sally Dickey's sister to Jane and Mary. "Pris" Ford has red hair like her sis, Nancy, and seems to have personality-plus. Undoubtedly "Hontas" Whitaker will follow Harriett's lead, or probably make a road of her own. Of course, there is a little difference between Betty Clark and her sister Katherine Perine, but no one can tell what will come forth. "Lizzie" Hancock will carry on in Lucy's footsteps as to personality and likeableness.

A communique from New York tells us that "Marty" Hinkle's dancing toes will some day become famous if she continues her summer studies.

Jean Strickland's rendition of "The Old Apple Tree" promises to be somewhat famous on the campus.

The looks-alikes department—"Tumpie" Hudson and Dale Creech; Caroline Camp and Jean Rickenbacker (also, Betsy Thompson); Jane Lowe and "Ditty" Robinson; Betsy Siler and Mary Pinckney. "Maggie" Hudson, "Cama" Clarkson, and Margaret Caldwell seem to have plenty of contacts at State already.

In cruising around the halls we heard that Holly Beck may well be a future backbone of the publications staff. She volunteered to write an article. Hooray for Holly! "Liddy Bet" Myatt and Leah Loyd like to talk, they say.

Gene Hines found a new cousin she'd never seen before and they're already getting their mail mixed.

Damaris Thornton is not exactly new. This is her third year, but she stayed home last year.

These girls came a long way. "Gingie," who looks like Kate Broadfoot, hails from Baton Rouge, La. Martha Dean came in from Houston, Texas. Barbara White calls Los Gatos, California, home.

"Doolie" Baltzell and "Doolie" Ashburn may have a little trouble with their duplicate nicknames.

Sarah Covington is the little gal with a voice like "Baby" Bacall Bogart.

Ruby Leigh Williams has a brother, Frank, who has already made several conquests among the Saint Mary's old girls.

Lib Couch was a Playmaker this summer, and from all we hear, she really knows the Pre-flights!

ters? Have you seen Mary Jane Mason and big sis Florence Thompson, also Ann Stackhouse and her big sis Joan Reece. There was someone cute here to see Betty Beasley last week-end. They tell us that same fellow called her three times last night. Maggie and Bo, know you've heard them all the way from third Smedes, had company this week-end all the way from Durham, with convertible! Don't miss the birthday party for Maggie and Jane Thomas Saturday night.

They say lucky Barbara White has had five visitors since she's been here and all boys, by the way. The phone has really been ringing for four gals on third Smedes. Betty Adkerson, Hontas Whitaker, Jane Winston, Susan Taylor, and Betty Beasley have gotten three long distance calls.

On Sunday, September 30, at the 11:00 o'clock service, Katherine Royall, president of the Canterbury Club, and Mildred Chappell, president of the Y.W.C.A., will address the students and faculty in regard to the every-member canvass to take place on that day.

* * *
Mr. and Mrs. Guy Cornman, who now live at Virginia Beach, visited Saint Mary's campus during the opening days. Mrs. Cornman before her marriage was Karlyn Sloan ('46) of Fayetteville, N. C.

* * *
Winifred Rosenbaum, a Saint Mary's graduate, formerly of Tarboro, now in the recreational division of the Red Cross at Camp Blanding, Fla., was a visitor at the school during the opening days while on a special leave.

* * *
Palmer Davis of Dunn, N. C., brother of Mrs. Jack Hollis of the business school, spent the weekend on the campus at the home of the chaplain, the Rev. Mr. I. Harding Hughes.

* * *
 During the summer months Mr. Hughes preached in the following places: Albemarle, Southern Pines, Saluda, Shelby, Biltmore, Sanford (twice), Hamlet, Spartanburg, S. C., Weldon, Salisbury, Wadesboro, Christ Church, Raleigh, N. C. He also took part in four conferences at Kanuga, Vade Mecum, Christ Church, Cleveland, N. C., and at the College of Preachers in Washington.

* * *
Mr. Hughes, on September 25, attended the N. C. Council of Churches at Guilford College, N. C., as one of the five members of the group from the Diocese of North Carolina.

* * *
Jacqueline White's father, Mr. Guess, and Mr. Hughes were classmates at the University of N. C.

* * *
Mrs. Edwin A. Penick was the guest of the Stoughtons for dinner on Sunday.

Martha Best Yorke's mother and Edith Allison's mother were classmates of Miss Elizabeth Tucker, secretary of this school.

Dr. Robert F. Brand of Raleigh will teach German, Spanish, and history. He received his A.B., M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from Cornell University, and under the Weil Fellowship granted at Cornell he has studied at the University of Strasbourg in France. Besides teaching, Dr. Brand is an announcer at WPTF radio station. When he taught at the Citadel in Charleston, S. C., he did radio work there also.

J. W. Morgan will replace Mrs. Norman Teter as chemistry in-

Sophomore Suzie

Here we all are back again, just like last year, 'cept for some strange reason everything seems a little different. I guess it's cause we're THE SENIORS. By the way, I might explain, for the sake of those who aren't familiar with me and my enlightening column, that Sophomore Suzie is really a senior here though she'd be a sophomore somewhere else if she wasn't a senior here. Now we have that straight.

Did you see how wistfully the seniors watched all those hoards of juniors with dates last week-end? Oh well, girls, remember, we were young once ourselves. However there are those among us who won't say die. For instance, I noticed that Margo Martin did most of her marshaling with one eye directed on a very attractive portion of the Air Corps who waited patiently in the back.

I really have to do something with my hair. Just wearing it the usual way practically classes one as juvenile these days, but mine just won't sit up in those little round things. I always look remotely like a giraffe-neck woman I saw once. Betty Goodwyn can really set the styles. 'Tain't fair, though, 'cause she's the only one that can ever wear them.

I guess you know about the question. The question these days is asked in a tense demanding voice, usually accompanied by a very accusing look. The question: "How much have you read in The Iliad?" If you answer with a vague, The Iliad?, your questioner smiles pityingly and is very happy, but, if you should by some quirk of fate say, "Oh, 70 or 80 pages," you are naturally not accepted any more. I wonder if Mr. Moore feels powerful with all of our 49 sweet young lives resting in his power. Oh well, we can always get Spot to ask him questions on class and drive him to . . . who knows?

I just can't wait 'til the Girl Break Saturday night. I'm not as excited as Sue Thomas though. HE'S coming, and he's a brand new Ensign. Charlotte's awful hopeful too. In fact, a mad exchange of letters this week has practically guaranteed plenty of material for us to work on.

But now I'm sleepy, so I'll water my potted plants, brush my teeth, and go to bed. Ain't routine wonderful?

structor. Mr. Morgan received his A.B. and M.A. degrees from Duke University, and he is now teaching at both State College and Saint Mary's.

Mrs. William B. Boles of Dunn will succeed Mrs. Elaine T. Phelps as head of the Business Department. Mrs. Boles received a degree in commerce from the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina.

cream. And thus ended our New Girl-Old Girl Reception, a wonderful party that was so good, even to the last drop of melted vanilla!
