Have You Thought About It?

If everyone at Saint Mary's was asked to write a definition of honor there would probably be many answers. We all know its meaning. On the other hand, if we were asked "What does honor mean to you?" most of us would think a long time before answering, for everyone has an entirely different concept of honor.

Our personal honor is something that belongs to us alone. It is a heritage which only we can uphold, and only we can allow to degenerate. If we keep our honor spotless, what a personal joy it gives to us; how clean it makes us feel; how true to ourselves. Just as if we allow our honor to fall from its level, it personally hurts us; it lowers our character; it detracts from our personality.

Honor is above all a personal trait, but like so many personal traits, it affects others. A girl to whom her honor is very important naturally influences her friends, just as a girl to whom honor means absolutely nothing pulls down her friends to her level. Thus one girl is capable of undermining an entire student government; she is capable of upsetting a carefully worked out honor system; she is capable of lowering others' morale.

To have a perfect honor system, all these girls are to be eliminated. We must have girls who display pride, wisdom, and unselfishness in their attitude toward our school; we must have girls whose greatest desire is to see our honor system solid to the roots, we must have girls whose personal honor comes first.

To Mr. and Mrs. C. A. P. Moore the PUBLICATIONS staff wishes to send the heartiest congratulations, and we do hope the name will be Ann!

Cream Shampoo Crash Market; Dire Results

Is there a new shampoo on market? Is sticky hair the style? No! But if you had been on second Smedes not long ago you might have thought so.

One Saint Mary's lassie hurried to the lavatory to wash her hair. She didn't have too much time. Being very "up" on things, our heroine grabbed what she thought to be a jar of cream shampoo. She wet her hair and applied big dab. She rubbed; she rubbed some more. It would not lather. Some more cream was applied. Still no suds could be produced. Almost crying, almost frantic, she picked up the jar to read the label. What she thought to be cream shampoo was cream odorant! And seven washing didn't get it out.
