North Carolina College Conference Elects Dr. Stone As New President Posture Week Ends With Crowning Of Louise Milliken, Posture Queen

Representatives of Forty-five N.C. Colleges Gather at Winston

The North Carolina College Conference elected Dr. Richard G. Stone president for the year 1950-51 at its annual meeting in Winston-Salem, November 8-9. The North Carolina College Conference is a body whose members represent forty-five universities, senior and junior colleges in North Carolina.

The College Conference convenes annually and at this meeting seeks to set forth methods of obtaining improved teaching techniques and better school facilities. Since it began in 1921, the conference has been helpful in providing occasions for college presidents to discuss their mutual problems and to offer suggestions for these problems.

The North Carolina College Conference is to North Carolina what the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools is to the South. It is also an accrediting organization. Each college must maintain certain standards to be admitted into the organization. Some of these standards pertain to qualifications for teachers, required courses, amount of money to be spent in libraries, and the number of students proper for oral recitation and laboratory classes.

Dr. Stone has formally served on the college admissions committee of the Conference. Other officers elected at this past meeting are from various colleges throughout the state.

This election is not only a personal tribute to Dr. Stone but also an honor to the school, in view of the fact that Saint Mary's is a small school and a junior college.

Gaston Will Guide Legislative Body

The members of the Legislative Body elected Margaret Gaston chairman and Alice Hicks secretary for the 1950-51 session.

Margaret calls and presides over all meetings of the Legislative Body and together with the Dean of Students discusses all petitions with the president of the school. She also has the duty of recording in the master file of student regulations any changes in regulations resulting from Legislative Body action.

Margaret, a senior from Belmont, North Carolina, is here for her third year. She is on the Stage Coach staff, a member of the YWCA, and a Sigma.

Alice, as secretary, records the minutes of each meeting and collects

Seniors Begin Preparations For Annual Christmas Celebration

"Winter Wonderland" is Theme, Dick Levin Provides Orchestra

Seniors are busy making plans for their annual Christmas dance, which will be held December 9.

As yet there are no definite plans, but the seniors are working their decorations around the theme "Winter Wonderland." The background will be blue, white, and silver. Many snowmen of various shapes and sizes will outline the gym. Snow, ice, icicles, and snowflakes will give the gym the mysterious appearance of a winter wonderland. In the far corner of the gym the dancers will see a large Christmas tree laden with lights and presents. The orchestra or bandstand will be in the shape of Santa's sled pulled by reindeer.

Dick Levin and his eight-piece orchestra will furnish the music for the dance.

The figure this year will be very simple. It is a modification of the records of the Body to be passed on to the next president.

Alice, of Faison, is president of the junior class, the Letter Club, and the Doctors' Daughters' Club.

Glee Club Sings For Service At N.C. State

Thirty-five Glee Club members, directed by Miss Geraldine Cate and accompanied by Mrs. Peggy Royster Jones Corby, rendered special music for the Fraternity Church Service which was held at the West Raleigh Presbyterian Church Sunday night, November 5.

The group sang two special selections, Gloria Patri by Palestrina and Listen to the Lambs by Dett. A solo part in the latter was done by Anne Lee. As a prayer response the club offered Hear Our Prayer, O Lord.

The evening message was delivered by Dr. W. D. Weatherford of Berea College, Berea, Kentucky.

An informal social hour, which was given by the youth fellowship of the church, followed the service. Doughnuts, buns, cinnamon twists, coffee, and punch were served.

This church service was sponsored by the various fraternities on the State College campus in observance of "Religion in Life Week" or "Religious Emphasis Week," November 5 through November 11.
