

Belles of St. Mary's

PAT McQUEEN

Hometown: Lumberton, N. C.
 Always heard: "Gollie, y'all"
 Always seen: giggling
 Pet frat: KA at Duke
 Life ambition: to get everyone's shining face in the Stage Coach
 Favorite food: shrimp
 Pet peeve: Holt heating system
 Favorite movie star: tie between Stewart Granger and Gordon MacRae
 Prediction for the future: houseful of little belles and KA's.

BETTY MARTIN

Hometown: Raleigh, N. C.
 Always heard: "Y'all..."
 Always seen: as a boy in Miss Davis' plays
 Pet frat: Pika
 Life ambition: to dance away her cares
 Favorite food: spaghetti
 Pet peeve: Spanish test on Saturday
 Favorite movie star: David Niven
 Prediction for the future: second Martha Graham

HARRIETT MARDRE

Hometown: Windsor, N. C.
 Always heard: "Hey-o-dere"
 Always seen: ready to help
 Pet frat: not choosy
 Life ambition: to live at Nags Head forever
 Favorite food: steak
 Pet peeve: quarterly tests
 Favorite movie star: Charleston Heston; "He's good enough."
 Prediction for the future: a suave Democratic Senator from North Carolina

MEGAN GOODWIN

Hometown: Raleigh, N. C.
 Always heard: "Tell him I've left."
 Always seen: neat as a pin
 Pet frat: KA at Davidson
 Life ambition: fulfilled
 Favorite food: lemon pie
 Pet peeve: boys that call up for dates at the last minute
 Favorite movie star: Robert Wagner
 Prediction for the future: Miss Safe-driver of 1975

Whisperin' Oaks

Mr. Broughton, child psychologist, is reported as being a firm believer in the laying on of hands provided it's done in the right place.

Again Mr. Broughton is brought into the limelight in reference to this book depicting life at St. Mary's which he is contemplating writing. Now, Mr. Broughton, be careful to avoid libel suits.

Elopement is really a very selfish thing. It may be nice for the couple who got away, but it surely can cause trouble on the homefront... and all for what?

Pep rallies have their places; the spirited show held Tuesday night certainly deserved its place. St. Mary's can use an overdose of school spirit. Let's pour it on.

Congratulations, dance marshals and all who attended the Halloween dance. Reports have it that you all know a good deal when you see one. Spread the good word, and maybe the dance on November 20 will be even greater.

Not meaning to knock the props out from under you, but there is no longer any "sech animal" as St. Mary's School and Junior College. The latest meeting of the Board of Trustees officially re-named ye ole institution as St. Mary's Junior College.

Mrs. Partrick added a delightful personal touch to our ideas of Haiti, in assembly November 9. She descriptively and fascinatingly shared with us her visit there this summer.

And then there was the table in the dining room who sent their new waiter back to the kitchen for caviar. "Miz Truitt says we don't have that," he reported.

What's this? A girl complained in Mr. Moore's 8:30 English class that she had gotten too much sleep the night before! S.M.C.C., Mr. Moore?

St. Mary's Belles Personify Song Hits

- Sleepytime Gal*—Alice Wahman
- Sweet and Lovely*—Nelson Blount
- Undecided*—Mary Louise Bizzell
- Our Love Is Here to Stay*—Molly Dominick
- Powder Your Face With Sunshine*—Martha Brooks
- You Call Everybody Darlin'*—Barbara Dearing
- What Is This Thing Called Love?*—Ann Keffer
- I'm Sitting on Top of the World*—Libby Reese and Jane Wrike
- Buttons and Bows*—Peggy Smith-deal
- Friends, Friends, Friends*—Beth Kemper
- Baubles, Bangles and Beads*—Sylvia Turner
- The Eyes of Texas Are Upon You*—Kathy Whitfield
- Forty Cups of Coffee*—Teensie Harris
- A Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody*—Coleman Jenkins
- The Ballad of the Three Musketeers*—Nancy Cook, Jenny Davis and Betty Jeanne Houtz
- Pretty-Eyed Baby*—Cindy Plott
- Write Me One Sweet Letter*—Dewey Owens
- Hey There!*—Hunt Proctor
- Sophisticated Lady*—Ann Stronach
- There's No Business Like Show Business*—Miss Davis
- Little Mama*—Martha Williford

Modern Art, Mule, Ruffles Dorn Rooms

Are you the quaint type? Are you "crazy, mixed up?" Do you like vivid hues? From the following examples discover your personality.

The girls who live in 325 Smedes are evidently fond of animals. Nancy and Nancy (Llewelyn and Mallon) have found a place on their wall for a gigantic mule! It is actually the size of a real one. "Francis" is really an addition to their room which neighbors hope won't soon become a zoo! (Incidentally, suspicions point to the chance that it might have been plundered from a wall after the Duke-Army game.)

Ruffled curtains and little pillows mean the quaint type of room. You will find such an example at 120 West Wing, occupied by Coleman Jenkins and Alice Pittman. Yellow and green are the dominant colors, and a tremendous scatter rug covers practically the whole floor. It almost reminds you of home; so when you get a little homesick, girls, why not pay Coleman and Alice a visit? Lines—figures—angles—curves! It's the modern art that gets Caroline Cobb and Marion Verner "snowed." Amidst plaid bedspreads of red and blue you will find two pictures in black frames. Yes, it's modern art. Also, there is a black chair which is almost indescribable. It is only a piece of black cloth stretched across some metal poles! Sit in it at your own risk.

Such are the examples of some St. Mary's rooms. However, if the occupants have plenty of good food and "hot" records, it doesn't matter what the room looks like!

From Other Campuses

Here's a new twist! The Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity is sponsoring, not a beauty contest, but an ugly man contest. This event has become an annual affair. The penny votes will go to the Baptist Student Union Home Mission project.

Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth, the Queen Mother of England, will tour William and Mary College on Friday, November 12, in the course of a three-week private visit to the U. S. and Canada. Her visit to this country is in answer to an invitation from Columbia University where she will be the principal guest of honor at the 200th anniversary celebration.

Chain letters are making the rounds at Carolina. Pay $5 and receive fabulous amounts, up to $10,240.

The Wake Forest paper, Old Gold and Black, has received an all-American rating from the Associated Collegiate Press for the spring semester 1954. This marks the third consecutive semester in which the paper has earned the top award.

Fire gutted the Kappa Alpha House in Chapel Hill Monday night and left most of the ceiling damaged by the blaze. The fire reportedly originated from a pile of trash next to the furnace room of the KA House. Blazes spread to the woodwork in the adjoining bar and to the dining room, also located in the basement. The fire damaged the entire basement ceiling plus the woodwork and furniture in the downstairs rooms. The floor around the huge stone fireplace in the living room was badly charred.

Gordon Forester, KA secretary, estimated the damage at approximately $10,000.

AT THE THEATERS

(Nov. 7-Dec. 9)

VILLAGE

- 7-20 Woman's World
Clifton Webb, June Allison
- 21-27 Four Guns to the Boarder
Rory Calhoun
- 28- 4 This Is My Love
Linda Darnell, Dan Duryea

AMBASSADOR

- 7-13 A Star Is Born
Judy Garland, James Mason
- 14-20 Drum Beats, Alan Ladd
- 21-27 Track of the Cat
Robert Mitchum

VARSITY

- 11-13 Apache
Burt Lancaster, Jean Peters
- 14-17 Magnificent Obsession
Jane Wyman, Rock Hudson
- 18-20 Living It Up
Martin & Lewis
- 21-22 Dragnet, Jack Webb
- 23-24 Little World
- 25 All Cartoon

COLONY

- 12- 9 White Christmas
Bing Crosby, Rosemary Clooney

Library News

"Pooped" Students Find Miracle Cure

Poor nearsighted students! You still say that you can't do much extra-curricular reading and retain your sanity. A thought! Well, we still say that since you'll probably crack up anyway before you leave, reading for relaxation is a good way to keep from worrying about it.

If you are traveling from the pencil sharpener to the back room of the library, why not pause and gaze upon the magazine rack? That's an ideal time to glance through—say, the New Yorker. At least, look at the hilarious cartoons. There's one of Charles Addams' humorous fiends in the latest issue.

Watch Your Ailments

Still don't feel up to it? My, you really are tired! In fact, although nobody wants to alarm you, maybe you are suffering from acute, infectious mononucleosis. According to the latest Science Digest this disease that makes you tired is becoming more and more common, particularly among young adults and college students.

Now do you wish you could flee from it all, thousands of miles away where ignorance is bliss and great learning is uncommon among women like us? To the Lotus Land of Tibet, for instance? Ah, but you can go—in a book! Seven Years in Tibet by Heinrich Harrer is a thrilling adventure story of an Australian mountain climber who crossed the Himalayas into Tibet and for seven years remained in the Forbidden City of the Living Buddha.

European Escapades Expounded

Do you old girls remember last year when Emily Kimbrough entertained us with tales of her hilarious adventures in Europe? Well, she narrates these European escapades in a delightful book called Forty Plus and Fancy Free. In this latest book, somewhat of a sequel to her first success, Our Hearts Were Young and Gay, she relates the merry adventures of a group of "grandmothers" touring Europe.